SKINNY KIBBLES

Around And About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

On October 12, 1492, so the historians record, Christopher Columbus discovered America. He wouldn't know the old place now. In 445 years it is reasonable to expect some changes. We moved pretty slow for the first few centuries after Columbus put us on the map, but we are going to town now, and politics, the stock market and labor agitations do not give much indication when or where we are going to stop. Some view ominously the outlook, while the more optimistic believe we will get the brakes working before a collision takes place. If we are bad off we can take a look at China and get some relief by comparison.

In one respect this old world hasn't changed any. Adam started out and his first escape was with the wily female, and some of the boys think he got the worst of it. Long before Columbus appeared a number of interesting events took place and always a woman was mixed up in the affair. If you don't believe it ask Mark Antony. And you, Columbus, had to carry your troubles to Queen Isabella before you were in the money. And who wants to get along without the women, anyway. I'll defend a woman when I'll fight a man. Don't get alarmed. I don't put up much of a fight. I would Aviator Dahl be if he had not sent a picture of Mrs. Dahl to General Francisco Franco?

What makes me sore is that Columbus don't answer his correspondence. I've tried every kind of a stamp right down to Farley's "special editions," and haven't had a line. In that respect, however, Columbus is as good as Houdini. He promised to get a message through, too, and did he?

Well, Chris, you should be here now to see what you started. You just closed the World Series and I won four pools. We're now playin' football instead of shuffleboard; we got marble machines and punch boards and parimutuels and so much sport that you can't stop us. We've had prohibition and inhibition and exhibition and dancing—with or without fans—and so many temptations, that most of us have yielded to one form or other, so I think it would be just as well if we turned to the simple life as you found it when the Nina, the Santa Maria and the Pinta pushed their noses along the banks of San Salvador.

You see our civilization has reached the point where we are ready to pour hot oil and bombs on any other nation which disagrees with us. Fact is we are right now in an actual demonstration of what present day civilization is like. We exchange diplomatic notes which neither side believes, and bluff like an old time poker player holding a four flush, hopin' we won't be called.

We have the Smith Brothers and an Al Smith with a building so high it makes you dizzy just to think about it—much less see it. The old gray mare ain't what she used to be, and neither are a lot of us old fellows. "When you were here everybody wanted to work. Now everybody is looking for relief, and a lot of 'em getting it who aren't entitled to it. You're able to find a lot of old-fashioned folk who believe in the scriptural admonition that you should earn your bread by the sweat of your brow, but you'll find a lot more who think the idea is antiquated, and they want to chisel out an existence without an expenditure of energy. Why, a fellow told me today that the government was going to pay us $1.50 an acre for raising weeds. Say,

Girl Risks Life To Save Boy Pal In Bay Disaster

A 15-year-old girl saw tragedy strike its most cruel blow yesterday, and the terrifying sight of almost-certain death whipped her into frenzied action that saved the life of a young companion.

Today Dee Williamson, daughter of Mayor and Mrs. H. H. Williamson of Newport Beach, was a heroine. She breathed a prayer of thanks as doctors told her the youngster she had clutched from death would recover.

Jack Jones, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. (Scotty) Jones, 1713 Miramar drive, Balboa, is lying in St. Joseph's hospital with a brutally crushed skull. The Williamson girl's frantic, speedy rescue was all that saved him from death in the depths of placid Newport bay.

The two children and several companions were laughing and playing in the water near the harbor entrance yesterday. Jack was standing on the edge of a Croft and Neville dredger, poised for a dive.

Suddenly something on the dredger snapped. A huge metal windlass on the dredger's crane began to whirl through the air. Just as Jack's terror-stricken playmates looked up, the windless struck him squarely on the head. The child groaned, slumped into

DRASTIC MOVE GETS BACKING OF U. S. NAVY

Cooperation With Great Britain Sought (MERRY-GO-ROUND)

WASHINGTON. — Before President Roosevelt delivered his Chicago speech proposing a "quarantine" against aggressor nations he had some extremely significant conversations with the navy and the state department. The British also were in on part of the consultation.

If you know what transpired in these talks you can be sure that when Roosevelt threw out his "quarantine" idea he was not word-juggling. He really meant business.

Here is what had happened before he made the speech:

Shortly after congress adjourned, the President called in his chief navy strategists and asked their advice regarding (1) the ability of the navy to protect American shipping in the Far East; (2) the strength of the navy in case of serious eventualities; (3) the strategy recommended by the navy to block Japanese imperialism.

OUTLINE BLOCKADE

In reply, the admirals unfolded a plan for an economic blockade of Japan. It did not call for war against Japan, though admittedly it might lead to war. It provided for action by the leading powers of Europe—possibly through the League of Nations or the signatories of the Nine-Power Treaty. Particularly it called for the cooperation of the British and American navies.

The chief differences between the admirals' plan and the economic sanctions hitherto tried by the League were twofold:

1. The league never had the cooperation of the British or French fleets in embargoing shipments to Italy during the Ethiopian crisis.

2. Italy, being on the European mainland, had adjacent neighbors such as Austria and Hungary which openly stated they would not adhere to the boycott. Japan, being a series of islands, can be blockaded.

Ogden Mills Rites Thursday

NEW YORK. (AP)—Ogden L. Mills, former secretary of the treasury, who died unexpectedly of a heart attack yesterday, will be buried Thursday.

Funeral services will be held in St. Thomas church, Fifth avenue and Fifty-third street, at 10 a. m. Mills, who was 53, was stricken with coronary thrombosis, apparently while sleeping. Although heart stimulants were administered by Dr. Henry James, his physician, he died without regaining consciousness.

EIGHT MORE SOVIETS DIE MOSCOW. (AP)—Eight more death sentences were reported from the provinces today for persons charged with spoiling grain supplies or disrupting collective farming.

Bandits Murder Police From Ambush

This is an artist's conception of one of the murders charged to the Brady gang. Fleeing from a $2600 bank robbery, the gunmen waited in ambush behind a church and opened fire on a police car, killing a state officer.

CONGRESS TO GET SPECIAL NOV. SESSION

Call Issued Today By President Roosevelt

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt today called a special session of congress to meet on Nov. 15.

At his press conference late today, the President announced to a large crowd of newsmen that he had signed the proclamation calling congress into session.

Mr. Roosevelt gave no indication to reporters of the subjects to be considered but the first business of the extraordinary meeting will be farm legislation with surplus crop control as its principal purpose.

FDR TO TALK ON NETWORK

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt summoned congressional leaders to the White House today to consult with them before making a nationwide radio broadcast tonight.

A White House secretary, in making public the President's engagement list, advised reporters to be sure and be present at the regular semi-weekly press conference this afternoon. He indicated Mr. Roosevelt would have an important announcement.

President Roosevelt's "fireside chat" tonight probably will touch on a half dozen subjects, it was said at the White House today, but their nature was not disclosed.

Guesses as to the principal topic ranged from foreign affairs to the federal budget, but most observers believed Mr. Roosevelt would emphasize the prospect of huge crop surpluses and his belief in the need for legislation to control production.

Cohan Apes FDR

Hard-Baked Boston Beams

BOSTON. (AP)—Staid Boston circles—Republican and Democratic alike—rocked with laughter today over George M. Cohan's tap-dancing satirization of President Roosevelt and the New Deal.

Cohan scored one of the most notable triumphs of his career last night in the world premiere of "I'd Rather Be Right," George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart's rib-tickling musical-political comedy. The veteran comedian, returning

Women Bring End To Gangsters

"We'll make Dillinger look like a piker!"

Al Brady and Clarence Shaffer, Jr., looked very much like the slain Dillinger today. They lay dead on a Bangor, Maine, sidewalk, their blood rippling across the pavement before the horrified gaze of staid Bangor citizens on their way to work. James Dalhove, third gangster, surrendered.

Record of the Brady Killers

INDIANAPOLIS. (AP)—Here's what the federal bureau of investigation holds against the Brady gang:

Jan. 25, 1936—Robbery of the Rooney Grocery, Robinson, Ill., $320 cash and groceries.

March 4, 1936—Robbery of R. O. Wieland Jewelry store, at Greenville, O., of $8000.

March 19, 1936—Robbery of Kay Jewelry store, Lima, O., of $6836.

March 21, 1936—Robbery of a grocery at Piqua, O., of $150 and slaying of Grocery Clerk Edward Linsey.

April 9, 1936—Robbery of Sol Partner Jewelry store, Dayton, O., of $27,000 in jewels.

April 27, 1936—a repeat robbery at the Kay store, $12,000 in jewels. In a subsequent fight, Police Sergeant Richard Rivers of Indianapolis was slain.

Nov. 23, 1936—Robbery of North Madison State bank, North Madison, Ind., of $1630.

Dec. 17, 1936—Robbery of Citizens State bank, Greenville, O., of $8174.

April 27, 1937—Robbery of People's Loan and Trust company, Farmland, Ind., of $1427.

April 27, 1937—Robbery of Goodland State bank, Goodland, Ind., of $2600. In the chase, State Policeman Paul Minneman was slain.

2 Mobsmen Die, One Wounded In 5-Minute Battle

BANGOR, Maine. (AP)—G-men wiped out the notorious Indiana gunman-gangster, Al Brady, and one of his mobsmen today in a sensational five-minute gunfight on Bangor's busiest downtown street.

A third gangster, superficially wounded threw down his gun and surrendered. One federal agent was wounded.

The dead: Al Brady, 35, wanted for three slayings and several robberies. Clarence Shaffer, Jr., a Brady mobster.

The wounded: James Dalhove, Brady mobster, head grazed by bullet. G-MAN HURT

Only one G-man suffered injury and he, Walter Walsh, was shot in the shoulder. At the Eastern Maine General hospital, surgeons said they believed his wound was not serious.

The gangsters, who long have terrorized the Midwest with their forays upon banks and their armed bravado against officers of the law, had been traced by the department of justice agents, working with Indiana state police.

Brady and his two companions went early today to a sporting goods store to buy ammunition. The G-men—the exact number not immediately disclosed—stationed (Continued on Page 2, Cols. 2-3)

U. S. ENVOY IN SYRIA SHOT

BEIRUT, Syria. (AP)—James Theodore Marriner, one of the best known American foreign service officers, was shot and killed today by an Armenian to whom he had refused a visa to enter the United States.

The assassin's gun felled the tall, scholarly consul general as he stepped from his automobile before his office for the start of the day's official business.

Marriner's chauffeur captured the assassin.

Police, after a preliminary investigation, said the killer's name was Mejrardich Karayan.

They reported he pumped six bullets from a revolver into Marriner at close range. The consul general was struck in the head, abdomen and thigh. He died instantly.

An investigating magistrate examined Karayan. The prisoner, police announced, admitted that Marriner's refusal to issue a visa for the United States was the motive for the attack.

The authorities said the American official had blocked Karayan's entry on the grounds of insanity in the Armenian's family.

CLARENCE SHAFFER, JR.
Clarence Shaffer, Jr., murderous lieutenant of the Brady mob, who also died as government agents trapped him in front of a hardware store. Shaffer was known as the "loud mouth" of the gang.

JAMES DALHOVE
James Dalhove, crack rifle shot and former farm-boy member of the feared gang, cried for mercy when a bullet creased his skull. He was taken to a hospital after the attack.

Latest On Colds

By BRADEN FINCH

With colds going around town from door to door like a brush salesman, a bit of practical advice is not to be sneezed at.

Here's what Dr. L. D. Bristol, health director for one of America's biggest corporations, has to say for those who want to protect themselves against colds:

"Good health habits, proper ventilation, a daily diet including milk and plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables, extra nourishment through cod-liver oil, attention to diseased sinuses, increased alkalization of the body, and ultra-violet radiations where needed."

And, he might have added—"plenty of sleep and no over-dosage of alcohol."

SHERIFF BLASTS SUPERVISOR RILEY IN RETREAD TIRE FIGHT

LAW OFFICER URGES NEED FOR SAFETY

Jackson Refuses to Admit He's 'Mad'

Sheriff Logan Jackson today unleashed a blast of sarcasm at Supervisor Harry Riley, who meanwhile showed signs of retreating from his contention that sheriff's cars should be equipped with retreaded tires.

The county may abandon the policy, Riley said, of equipping emergency cars with recapped tires. Riley's oking of warrants for purchase of such tires for the sheriff's cars brought the first fire from the sheriff last week.

"PECULIAR TASTES"

Today the apparently victorious sheriff answered a statement by Riley in words which left the Anaheim supervisor branded as a "great businessman," having a "small mind" and "peculiar tastes" and as careless of police officers' lives.

Sheriff Jackson said he would be willing to submit the issue to the people of the county, but is unwilling to leave it to the decision of a single man, "even so distinguished an authority as Mr. Riley."

SHERIFF NOT "MAD"

Riley last week expressed full confidence in retread tires, hinting that perhaps Sheriff Jackson was "mad" because his office was deprived of many of its money-making possibilities in the new salary ordinance. This was denied today by the sheriff, who added he did not believe retread tires were suitable for police cars traveling at high speed.

The sheriff's blast at Riley follows:

"When Supervisor Harry Riley assures the public that cheap, retread tires are as good as new tires, I know that a great businessman is speaking and that there is practically nothing more to be said on the subject.

"However, what little that can be said should be said. The responsibility for the lives of peace officers compelled to ride cheap tires in line of duty is not to be lightly waved aside, even on the word of so great a man as Mr. Riley.

CHEAP TIRES SAFE?

"The supervisor assures us that I am 'mad' about the salary adjustments and not really serious about cheap tires. Mr. Riley is mistaken. I am very serious about them.

"My state of mind has no bearing on the issue, which is: Are Mr. Riley's cheap tires as safe as good tires? Mr. Riley's responsibility for the lives of officers is as great as mine and he employs a rather shoddy evasion of that responsibility when he seeks to inject personalities into the discussion. That method is the resource of small minds.

"If Mr. Riley is right about his retreads being as good as new tires, then the tire manufacturing industry of the country is all wrong. Following Mr. Riley's sage counsel, the industry should be making over old tires instead of turning out new ones.

"UNSAFE FOR BUSES"

"If Mr. Riley thinks that the lives of police officers are of no importance, he is entitled to that opinion, but let him say so in words as well as in actions.

"The state motor patrol, responsible for inspection of school transportation, refuses to permit use of Mr. Riley's retreads. If they are unsafe for school buses, why are they safe for cars of officers?

"The sheriff's office speaks from experience with Mr. Riley's retreads and wants no more of them. Other police departments in the county have had similar experience.

"THIS IS NOT A MATTER TO BE DECIDED BY MR. RILEY"

"This is not a matter to be decided by Mr. Riley's peculiar tastes. The district attorney has given the opinion that the supervisors and the county are responsible for accidents resulting from faulty equipment.

SPORTING PROPOSITION

"Mr. Riley may have no objection to bankrupting the county through such responsibility, but I have most serious objection to exposing the lives of peace officers by forcing them to ride on cheap tires.

"As a sporting proposition, Mr. Riley should be willing to prove his own theories at his own personal risk, not at the risk of peace officers.

"I am willing to submit the issue to the considered judgment of the people of Orange county. I do not believe that they desire to have the guardians of the public peace take unnecessary risks. I am unwilling to leave the decision to a single man, even so distinguished an authority as Mr. Riley."

Seattle Navy Base Gets 6 New Planes

SAN DIEGO. (AP)—Six giant navy patrol planes took off from the base at 4:30 a. m. today for Seattle, where they will be based at the naval air station.

Aboard each plane were seven men. Lieut. Com. Robert L. Fuller was in command.

The crews are expected to return here tomorrow aboard navy transport planes.

themselves on the opposite side of the street.

When Brady, Shaffer and Halover walked out of the store toward their car, the government men opened fire.

SEEK COVER

The gunmen, surprised, sought cover, whipping out their pistols as they dodged behind posts and parked cars. They blazed away in a return fire that for the most part was wild, for the G-men, deployed, made poor targets.

But the destruction of Brady and his men was not as simple as the killing of the more famous Indiana-born gangster, John Dillinger, who also fell before the G-men guns. The firing today went on for five minutes before Brady and Shaffer lay dead before the horrified gaze of scores of Bangor citizens on their way to work.

In the killing of Brady, the department of justice ended a career which they charge included the murder of an Indianapolis police sergeant, Richard Rivers, an Indiana state policeman, Paul Minneman, and Edward Linsey, a Piqua, O., grocery clerk.

BRADY BOASTS

The government men declined, as usual, to discuss the detective work that led to the discovery of the gang's presence here. It was recalled that Brady on one occasion boasted:

"I'll make John Dillinger look like a punk."

But today the G-men made Al Brady look like John Dillinger. Brady took him down as he fled from the "Finger Woman," the storied "Lady in Red."

In an automobile the gunmen found two army machine guns, a can of engine oil and blankets. The car bore Ohio registration plates.

After the coup, the officers said 17 federal officers, headed by Mr. Ron Guernsey, had been in the city working on the case during the past four days. They sprang into action today when Inspector Frank McClay of the Bangor police reported the bandit car was entering the city.

WAIT FOR GANG

Thomas J. Crowley, chief of the Bangor police, later disclosed the Brady gang had been waiting a week for arrival of the two machine guns found in the bandit car. He said it was his opinion a fourth member of the Brady "mob" was in the city, presumably the gangster who brought the machine guns.

Crowley estimated about 30 shots were fired in the brief but deadly fusillade.

When Brady and his two companions entered the store, G-men were in the establishment, others waited in a vacant building, and still others with police were located on the busy shopping thoroughfare.

TELLS STORY

"I was behind the counter," said Everett Hurd, store manager, "when they entered. I stepped out and asked Dalhove what he wanted. I did not realize at the time that he was armed and pointing a gun at me.

"Dalhove said, 'have you got that stuff I ordered a few days ago from you?' Hurd continued, 'A G-man stepped behind him and made Dalhove lift his arms, pointing a machine gun at his back. The G-man asked him where his pals were and he said 'right behind you.'"

"Then a flock of G-men piled

Washington at which newspapermen poke good-natured fun at political platforms and leaders, portrayed "Alf Landon" as an obstinate family butler for the Roosevelts who refused to explain to the "president" how he had balanced the Kansas budget.

A catchy tune called "Off the Record"—music and lyrics by Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart—was the vehicle for many of Cohan's most successful sallies.

The first-night audience chuckled particularly at these verses: "I sit up in my bedroom, reading books like Silas Marner."

"I'd read Sears Roebuck catalogues To get away from Garner.

"My messages to congress Are a lot of booby boots; I'm not so fond of Bankhead, But I'd like to meet Tallulah."

A major laugh came when the President, at a cabinet session, turned to Attorney General Cummings and ordered: "Cummings, take down a law!"

"There was another when the President avowed: 'I'm very fond of Eleanor, But I never read her column.'"

No mention was made of the Justice Black controversy until the last act, when nine black-robed "justices" danced gayly across the stage and Chief Justice Hughes warned the ninth man in line: "Hurry up, Justice Black. Remember, you've got to go on the air at 7:30 and do a little more explaining."

The plot concerns two youthful lovers who want to marry but can't because the boy's employer, wary of an unbalanced budget, won't provide the necessary pay raise. The President takes their plight before the cabinet, pleads for a balanced budget with a sprightly tune, "Let's Balance the Budget."

SOS OFF JAPAN COAST HEARD

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—The coast guard and Mackay radio intercepted two SOS calls from an unidentified ship, apparently off the Japanese coast, early today.

The coast guard said the signals were weak and apparently originated off the coast of Japan. The sender did not identify himself.

SLEEP SICKNESS KILLS YOUTH, 9

AUBURN. (AP)—Death of Fred James Burgen, 9, Applegate school boy, was attributed today to sleeping sickness. He had been ill one week. Placer county authorities said it was the first case of sleeping sickness reported in the district. Private funeral services will be conducted tomorrow.

Christmas Note: Car Bags Fox Fur

PASADENA. (AP)—V. R. Rozfa, a salesman, unintentionally did his Christmas shopping in the prescribed early fashion today.

A streak of red darted out from under a fence in front of his car. There was the dull thud as Rozfa stopped. A large, beautifully pelleted fox lay lifeless on the pavement.

"It's going to be a neckpiece for my wife," he said. "Tomorrow morning I'll drive the same route. Maybe I can get her a double fur."

12-Ship Ocean Line Dissolved

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Dissolution of the Oceanic and Oriental line, with allotment of its 12 ships equally to its stockholders, the Matson Navigation company and the American-Hawaiian Steamship company, was announced here.

The ships averaging from 8800 to 12000 tons deadweight have been engaged in Pacific trade operating under a government mail subsidy.

What Next? Negro Musical Western?

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—This is being different:

Producer Jed Buell announced today that he will film an all-negro musical western. The title is "Harlem on the Prairie."

Miller and Manton, comedians, and Herbert Jeffries singer with Lee Hite's orchestra, are among the members of the cast.

Dirigible Service Planned by Russia

MOSCOW. (AP)—Regular dirigible passenger service between Moscow and Sverdlovsk, a distance of 850 miles, is planned for next year, following test flights with a 15-passenger airship that made the trip in 20 hours. It is planned to extend the line to Krasnoyarsk, Siberia.

GIRL RESCUES BOY IN BAY

unconsciousness and toppled into the bay.

UNDER DREDGE

Frozen to their spots, his horrified companions finally let out terrified screams. Dee Williamson was the first to move. She spotted the trail of bubbles that showed the Jones boy had drifted under the dredger, plunged in and swam down into the murky water.

She went down, down, nearly 20 feet. At last she caught a glimpse of the motionless form. She grasped him in a final lunge, and they came to the surface together. His wound had given the water an ominous reddish tint.

BOAT AT HAND

Screams of the other children by this time had attracted Nels Olson and John Pulgencio, in a small boat near by. They were waiting at the surface when Dee and her injured friend came up.

They rushed the boy to shore, where Dr. Gordon M. Grundy cleaned and bandaged the wound. With hopes for the boy's life revived, Dr. Grundy tenderly loaded him into an ambulance, and he was brought to St. Joseph hospital, where Dr. J. M. Burlew said he probably would recover.

Harbor Master T. E. Bouche and Assistant Chief Jan Brisco of the Newport fire department, assisted with the rescue.

RULES ARE BACK ON

LONDON. (AP)—Indiscriminate use of pictures of the royal family on chocolate boxes and such-like will be banned when present stocks have been used up. MOTHER WISHES HER SON WAS KILLED

MADISON. (AP)—Mrs. John Craig of Madison, told today by a newspaper man that her son, James Dalhove, had been wounded in Bangor, Me., in a gun fight in which two fellow mobsters were killed, expressed regret that he escaped death.

"It's too bad he wasn't killed suddenly like the rest of them," said Mrs. Craig. The gangster's mother then fainted.

Craig said Mrs. Craig had received no word from her son since his escape from jail at Greenfield, Ind., in April, 1936.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Christopher, since you were here it is charged that we have gone commercialistic, materialistic and some folk think animalistic. From what I have seen and heard I am rather of the opinion that the accusation has some basis of truth.

Men high in statistical and economic circles, including the conspicuous Babson, have repeatedly warned us about losing our national spirituality. He recalls that nations perish where faith disappears. That there is still a place in business for the Golden Rule, and we better get back to it before it is too late. So, Christopher, maybe it would be just as well if you come back and rediscovered America so we can get a new start. We seem to have made pretty much of a mess of some of our civilization, in spite of many of its advantages.

However, there is lots of independence abroad in the land, other than the Declaration of Independence. King Edward declared himself, and by the way, that's another case where the woman appeared to change the monarchical system. You were a Big Shot when you were here, but now we have Mussolini and Hitler and Stalin and I could mention a few more but I rather talk to you privately. Why, we got some fellows here who aspire to make Kublai Khan look like a governor of Howland Island. If you think we have lost our ambition you are deluded. We have individuals who want to rule the world, and think they can do it.

Women Blamed for Downfall Of Notorious Brady Gang

married a Cincinnati girl, and has two boys, 9 and 7 years old. A roving laborer as a youth, he returned to Indiana and bought a farm near Hanover, mixing farm work with bootlegging. His first prison sentence, at Santa Fe, N. M., was for auto theft. Others followed in Kentucky and Indiana for assault to kill and possession of a still.

Clarence Lee Shaffer, Jr., "loud mouth" of the trio, operated a sandwich shop before joining up. Born in Indianapolis in 1916, he was reared by grandparents after his parents separated. He attended elementary school in Indianapolis and at Ben Davis, Ind., and apparently lived a normal life. But while doing odd jobs, he worked for a time with a character known to the G-men as Charles Geisekling, one-time member of the Brady gang who is now serving time in Ohio.

The first job attributed to the gang was a $320 store robbery at Robinson, Ill., in January, 1936. Brady was identified as one of the two holdup men. Other holdups followed.

And then in April, 1936, the gang grabbed a haul of jewelry at Lima, O., and escaped after a running fight. Geisekling was wounded and his pals brought him to Indianapolis for medical aid. A police patrol cornered them at a surgeon's office and the gang again shot their way out, killing Police Sergeant Richard Rivers. The transport of $12,000 in jewels across a state line is the basis for the federal charges against the gang.

A few days later, Brady and you'll excuse me I'll toddle on, and if there isn't any message for me when I get back I'll write you again next October 12th, if I'm here, and if I am not here maybe I can talk to you face to face.

MISSING GIRL RETURNS HOME

Missing more than a week, Marian Edna Clark, 17-year-old Orange Union High school student, had breakfast with her parents today—and she readily admitted home is the best place, after all. She disappeared last Monday morning, and was the object of a state-wide police search until last night, when she turned up in the Long Beach juvenile home.

Officials there notified the sheriff's office, and Marian's worried father, George Clark, 1135 West Fifth street, went to Long Beach to get her last night.

She said she had spent last week visiting a friend in Bellflower, and had registered at the Long Beach Y. W. C. A. yesterday. When she asked them to help her find work, she said they challenged her age and called juvenile authorities.

But the gunmen escaped, as usual, under fire. Officers predicted the capture eventually would be made through a tip from some castoff sweetheart.

For the Chicago capture, Shaffer blames a pretty young New Orleans woman who has admitted leaving her husband and child for gangland thrills.

"If Brady had left women alone," Shaffer told reporters at that time, "we wouldn't be here now. She told us to park the car and leave the junk in it, wanting us to stay in a hotel all night instead of leaving town."

Shaffer summed up the mob's philosophy in these words: "Do I know what's coming to me? Sure, the electric chair with bells. What's the difference? I had a good time while it lasted."

He attended elementary school in Indianapolis and at Ben Davis, Ind., and apparently lived a normal life. But while doing odd jobs, he worked for a time with a character known to the G-men as Charles Geisekling, one-time member of the Brady gang who is now serving time in Ohio.

The first job attributed to the gang was a $320 store robbery at Robinson, Ill., in January, 1936. Brady was identified as one of the two holdup men. Other holdups followed.

And then in April, 1936, the gang grabbed a haul of jewelry at Lima, O., and escaped after a running fight. Geisekling was wounded and his pals brought him to Indianapolis for medical aid. A police patrol cornered them at a surgeon's office and the gang again shot their way out, killing Police Sergeant Richard Rivers. The transport of $12,000 in jewels across a state line is the basis for the federal charges against the gang.

A few days later, Brady and you'll excuse me I'll toddle on, and if there isn't any message for me when I get back I'll write you again next October 12th, if I'm here, and if I am not here maybe I can talk to you face to face.

OLSON RAPS STATE'S H. B. OIL PACT WITH STANDARD

SETTLEMENT CALLED GIFT TO COMPANY

Governor Accused Of Dodging Issue

State Senator Culbert Olson is dissatisfied with the $518,000 settlement of oil royalty claims by the state against the Standard Oil company and three other companies.

The payment was agreed on yesterday, but today Olson was on record as calling the settlement a $5,000,000 gift and accusing Governor Frank Merriam of seeking to dodge responsibility.

OPPOSED FINDINGS
Olson was a member of a special senate committee to investigate the Huntington Beach tidal land drilling situation, and issued a minority report opposing the committee's findings. He was author of the Olson bill, which provided for drilling of the state-owned oil pool at Huntington Beach by private companies on a royalty basis. The bill now is tangled in a mass of lawsuits, and may be submitted to a referendum next year.

The $518,000 settlement, announced yesterday by Finance Director Arlin E. Stockburger, provides for payment by Standard and three other companies for oil already taken from the state-owned pool, and provides that they may continue drilling on a royalty basis.

'DODGED ISSUE'
"This settlement," said Olson, "amounts to a gift by the state to the Standard Oil company of approximately $5,000,000, legally due the state for oil and gas taken from state lands by trespassing wells."

"The governor sought to personally dodge responsibility by pocket-vetoing a bill put through the legislature by the director of finance and the Standard Oil lobby, approving this settlement, but the governor's acceptance of this settlement makes it impossible for him to shift responsibility for this flagrant violation of the people's rights."

Milk Will Cost Distributors More

Dairy distributors here will pay more for their milk beginning Oct. 23, but it won't mean a jump in retail prices—yet.

C. H. Christie, manager of the Orange county Dairyman's association, said today that although the new wholesale prices will go into effect then as a result of state hearings under a new law, retail prices here will not be affected at once.

The price rise will result from an order made by State Director of Agriculture A. A. Brock following hearings conducted in various milk marketing areas under provisions of the Young milk control law.

Dairy distributors here will pay producers 72 cents a pound butterfat in Class I milk, an increase of three cents.

Educators Will Attend Conclave

Frank A. Henderson, superintendent of schools, and Miss Huette Kuennen, supervisor of elementary instruction, will represent the Santa Ana board of education at conventions of state superintendents and state supervisors of instruction at San Francisco late this month, the board voted last night.

The conventions will run simultaneously Oct. 27, 28 and 29. Miss Kuennen will participate in the program of the supervisors' session.

Superintendent Ray Adkinson and several other officials of the county board of education will join the Santa Ana school representatives in attending the conventions, it was learned.

GRANDSON BORN

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Shephard, 208 East Chestnut street, are rejoicing over the birth of a grandson. The baby was born Oct. 8 at Wichita Falls, Kan., to Mr. and Mrs. John L. Swanner (Elizabeth Shephard).

Did the Judge Call Us?

Homing Pigeon Gets Lost, Stops At Costa Mesa

A homing pigeon got lost last night!

Exhausted, the puzzled bird settled down in J. G. Sutherland's front yard at 115 Del Mar avenue, Costa Mesa. But that isn't home.

Maybe the pigeon just doesn't have a home, maybe its home life is unhappy, or maybe it just couldn't remember where home is. At any rate, it defied the natural laws governing homing pigeons. And it made no particular attempt to rectify the mistake by flying off on a new search for its roost.

The Sutherlands have kindly offered to assist, if the owner will only identify the bird. It was wearing two leg bands, one on each leg, marked with a "K."

BOY DIES IN FOOTBALL GAME

PITTSBURGH. (AP)—Jack Brice, 16-year-old football player of suburban Avalon High school, died early today after being injured in practice yesterday. Physicians said his skull was fractured.

School authorities said they would cancel the remaining football schedule. Brice was injured making a tackle, but lined up for the next play before collapsing.

CO-EDS CHARGE CASH FOR KISSES

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Syracuse university co-eds in McCarthy cottage are charging college boy escorts fees for good-night kisses as a means of raising house funds.

Escorts must drop a coin in a silver bowl for every goodnight kiss. Special week-end rates are in vogue and the whole thing is on a cash basis, no credit.

FALLS TO DEATH FROM L. A. HOTEL

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—William Brawar, 54, a retired Chicago real estate dealer, fell 11 stories from a downtown hotel room window here early today and was dashed to death on the sidewalk below. The body missed by inches John H. White, a milkman.

Detective Lieut. George Hill said the man's wife, Yetta, said Brawar had been in ill health since coming here two years ago.

With a novel "obedience test" as a feature of this year's event, entries are pouring in for the annual Santa Ana dog show Saturday and Sunday. Mrs. Arthur Eklund, chairman of the event, announced today.

In the picture above Michael Miller of Los Angeles has his cocker spaniel, Sister Gallant, all brushed and groomed for the show.

A public address system now is being installed to enable spectators to follow the judging. The show, sponsored by the American Legion auxiliary, will open at 11 a. m. and close at 10:30 p. m. each of the two days. It will be held in the armory building, 417 West Fourth street.

The "obedience test" will place dogs of different breeds in direct competition with each other in obeying commands, and will be judged by Carl Heimbuch, Hollywood authority.

Other show officials include Arnold Ruge and William Meyers Jones, New York; Charles Freasler, Dallas, Texas; and Albert Gardner, Hollywood, judges; Jack Bradshaw, Los Angeles, superintendent, and Mrs. W. B. Moore, Santa Ana, ring steward.

TO RESUME WPA SCHOOL WORK

Supervised sports and handicraft programs were to begin under WPA sponsorship at nine Santa Ana schools this afternoon. They will be held daily except Saturdays from 2 to 5 p. m.

McKinley and Franklin schools, in addition will have Saturday programs from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m., according to School Superintendent Frank Henderson, through whose office arrangements were made with WPA.

A man and a woman recreation leader will be in charge at each playground.

"The workers," Henderson said, "have been more carefully selected than ever before, and parents may be confident of careful supervision."

Approximately 25 per cent of school enrollment will be represented, Henderson said, following return of questionnaires sent to students' parents.

Schools conducting the daily program are McKinley, Spurgeon, Wilson, Lincoln, Jefferson, Hoover, Fremont, Franklin and Delhi.

COURT CONTEMPT

William V. Russell, 30, Westminster, was booked in the county jail yesterday on contempt of court charges. He was arrested in Judge Chris P. Pann's justice court at Huntington Beach.

School Cafeteria Workers To Get Disease Tests

Examinations for social and other contagious diseases will be compulsory for employees in all school cafeterias, the board of education decided in a surprise move at last night's meeting.

Cafeteria employees will be required to take the Wasserman blood test for social diseases, a typhoid test and regular physical examination, as a precaution against the transmission of disease to children through food served at school.

NO DISCUSSION

"I've heard of some cases in town where persons afflicted with serious diseases are handling food," declared Dr. Marguerite Baker, board member who brought up the question just before the trustees adjourned. "And I believe we should take every precaution to make sure there are none in our school cafeterias."

The motion was passed without discussion.

Employees, it was decided, can be examined either by private physicians or at no cost by the school doctor.

LEGION MOVE

The school board's move followed announcement three weeks ago of a campaign by the Orange county American Legion council to have ordinances enacted throughout the county making examinations for social diseases compulsory with all employees serving food to the public.

The campaign was launched in Laguna Beach, where the city council deferred action until opinion could be sounded out in other cities of the county.

ACTION IN LOS ANGELES

The city of Los Angeles, school board members were informed last night, already requires physical examination of employees in all establishments handling food.

Dr. K. H. Sutherland, head of the county health department, has endorsed the Legion-backed move, which would affect an estimated 3900 persons in Orange county.

Auditorium Floor To Be Sloped

A sloping floor will be added to the new Lathrop Junior High school auditorium — once the Seventh Day Adventist tabernacle — at an additional expense of "something less than $500," the board of education tentatively agreed last night.

The tabernacle now is being moved into its new location on the Lathrop grounds. The floor, according to present plans, will be sloped one inch in three feet and the stage will be raised an additional 18 inches to make it

JAPAN FACING STARVATION

Japan faces potential starvation, which may explain its apparent failure to play the international game according to Hoyle.

This was the observation of Dr. John Brown Mason last night in the second of his discussions of "International Danger Spots" at the high school little theater.

Students of international affairs are awaiting President Roosevelt's speech tonight, Dr. Mason said, hoping for an explanation of his Chicago speech demanding "quarantines" of offending nations.

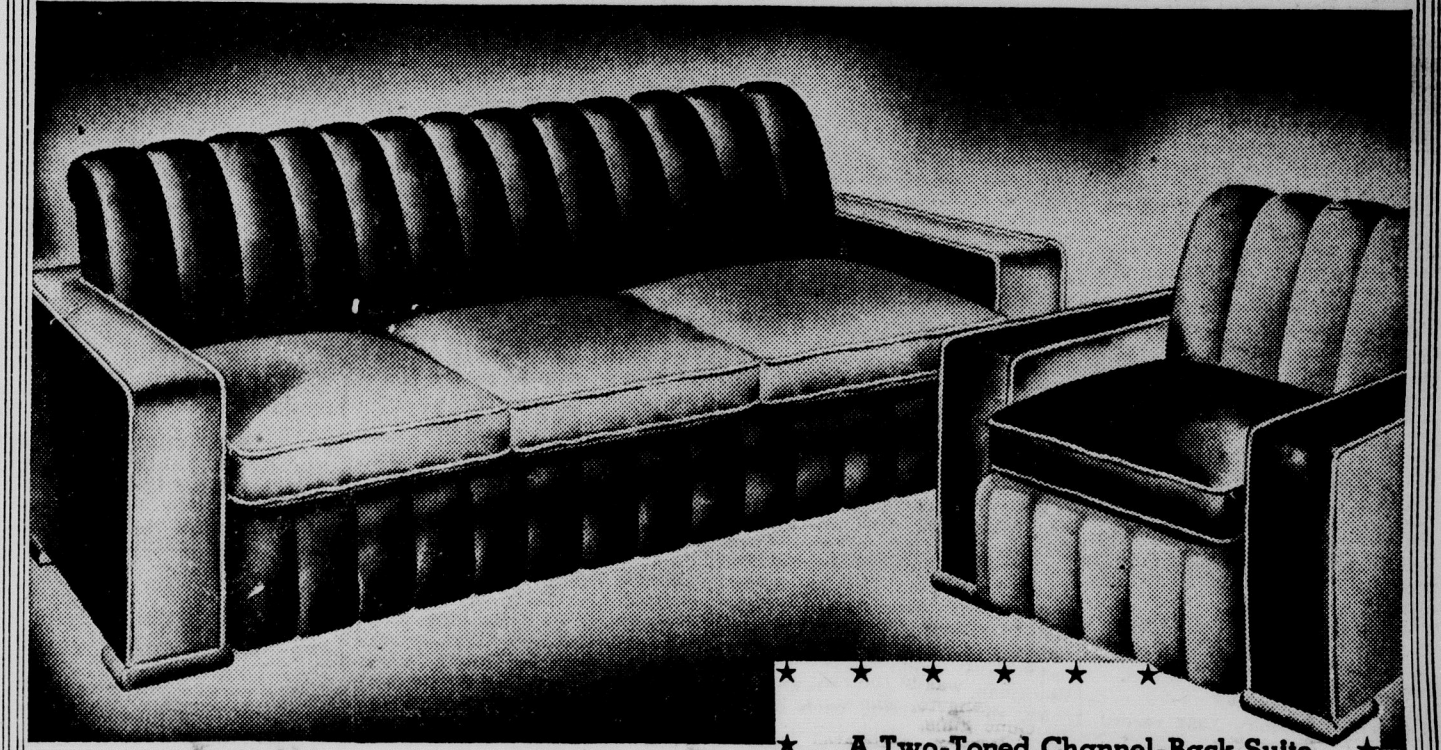

"If Duce and Heils Hitler" will be Dr. Mason's subject next Monday. The meetings begin at 7:30 p. m. and are open to the public.

If San Bernardino wrests the Southern California J. C. association football crown from Santa Ana's Dons, it will be the first championship for the Gate city Indians since 1927.

In 1936 Pasadena put up a handsome trophy which was to become the permanent property of the first junior college to win the title three times. The trophy returned to Pasadena to remain in 1932. Here are the records:

Nineteen twenty-six, Pasadena; 1927, San Bernardino; 1928, Pasadena; 1929, Santa Ana; 1930, Compton; 1931, Compton; 1932, Pasadena; 1933, Santa Ana; 1934, Riverside; 1935, Riverside; 1936, Santa Ana.

Thus, Santa Ana and Pasadena are the only jayvees ever to win the flag three times. Santa Ana probably will be the first four-time champion because Pasadena now free lances and no longer is eligible for the annual playoffs.

Do you realize that the Bill Cook-Blanchard Beatty forces have averaged more than 20 points in four games this season? Here's their record:

12.....Pasadena J. C..... 7
12.....Stanford Frosh..... 7
32.....Santa Monica J. C..... 0
27.....Chaffey J. C..... 0

Holding such opposition to a meager 13 points is a striking achievement for the Dons' stalwart forwards, scoring 83 points in a remarkable feat for their backfield men as well as their line.

San Bernardino's 1937 record is just as impressive. The Indians scalped Pasadena, 20-0; Long Beach, 19-0; Glendale, 13-0. As yet, they are untested in conference play. Last week's bye date was filled at Ontario, where San Bernardino watched Santa Ana breeze to its victory over Chaffey.

The Indians are pointing for the Dons with hope of repeating them for that 47-0 rout at the Municipal bowl last season in what was San Bernardino's most humiliating defeat in years.

Statistics revealed today that U. S. C.'s Trojans, elated over their 13-12 victory over Oregon State, are beginning to pack some of their old-time punch.

Thus far, the Men of Troy have completed 15 out of 31 forward passes. In three games they have earned 31 first downs to 16, and have rolled up 686 yards to the opposition's 473. Passes have netted 262 yards.

Ambrose Schindler, the San Diego boy, has been the Trojans' leading ground-gainer, rolling up 176 yards and three touchdowns. He has carried the ball 46 times for an average of 3.7 yards per try.

SPORT SLANTS

By TOM (PAP) PAPROCKI

The Horned Frogs of Texas Christian are counting on a 150-pound junior to fill the shoes of Slingin' Sam Baugh, departed from the ranks through graduation. Dave O'Brien is his name. He is a dead ringer for Mickey Walker, the immortal Toy Bulldog who held the world welterweight and middleweight boxing titles.

Understudy to Baugh last season, O'Brien took over the burden of passing this fall and, in the season's opener against Ohio State, stood head and shoulders above any other player on the gridiron. The Frogs were defeated, 14-0, largely because the rain conspired to make passing extremely difficult. With a bit of cooperation from other members of the team, O'Brien might well have turned the tables on the Buckeyes.

"What a boy this O'Brien is," grinned Coach Dutch Meyer. "We will carry on with our passing game just as though Baugh were out there chucking 'em. O'Brien is the greatest little man I ever saw. He'll make a great record, and don't forget it—he's tough; hard to hurt. And he's smart."

Chances are O'Brien will hang up quite a record before he completes his college career. As a sophomore passer his achievements outranked those Baugh boasted for the same period. Baugh's sophomore percentage for completing passes was .400;

Record Hung Up By Santiago Sharpshooters

CONTESTANTS ALL QUALIFY FOR MEDALS

Teel Wins Members' Match Medal With Score of 144x150

Just like everyone on a baseball team getting a hit the first time at bat, riflemen of the Santiago Rifle and Revolver club were a bit puffed up and amazed today.

Every rifleman who completed the annual government medal qualifications shoot qualified!

The record, hung up Sunday, was preliminary to a similar competition Nov. 14 when all others will have a chance to qualify in the annual shoot.

Sam Teel of Garden Grove won the members' match medal, competed for since two months ago. He shot 144 out of 150. His closest competitors were E. J. Shook, of Morro bay and Jess Lem of Orange, who tied for second.

Aggregates in the government qualification: E. B. Workman of Orange, highest in high five, with 337x350 points; James S. Sweet of Santa Ana, 335x350; Nyrone Warner of Santa Ana, 334x350; A. E. Cook of Lomita, 332x350, and Sam Teel, 329x350.

Individual scorings: 220-yard off-hand, James S. Sweet, 47 out of 50 points; Teel and Workman, each 46x50; LeRoy Carse of Santa Ana, 45x50; Warner, 44x50; Robert Hockaday and Albert George Green, both of Santa Ana, each 43x50.

200-yard rapid fire: Workman, Warner, Hockaday and Sweet, each 50x50; J. O. Smith of Santa Ana, 48x50; A. E. Cook of Lomita, 47x50.

300-yard slow fire: Teel, Warner, Workman, each 48x50; Carl Zinner of Anaheim and Cook, each 47x50; Howard Barrows of Santa Ana, 46x50; Lam and Sweet, each 45x50; Green, Clarence Eddy and Dr. Claude S. Dugan, all of Santa Ana, each 44x50.

300-yard rapid fire: Warner, Workman, Cook, each 50x50; Barrows, Smith, Green, each 49x50; Sweet and Teel, each 48x50; Lam, 47x50; and Hockaday, 46x50.

500-yard slow fire, Teel and Cook, each 49x50; Workman, Smith, Barrows, Eddy and Sweet, each 48x50; Green, 47x50; Carse and Lam, each 46x50; and Hockaday, 44x50.

BELGIAN PAIR WINS 6-DAY BICYCLE RACE

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—George and Archie Bollaert, Belgian brothers, won the international six-day bike race at Pan-Pacific auditorium early today.

Ewald Wissel and Al Sellinger, German pair, finished second, two laps behind. Mike De Filippo and Eddie Schroeder, trailed three laps back of the leaders and Bobby Walthour and Oscar Juner, New York team, were fourth, four laps in the rear.

The winning Belgians covered 2418 miles in 147 hours of grueling pedaling.

Delayed half an hour by spills, the race ended at 12:32 a. m. Of the $15,000 prize money paid by Comedian Leon Erroll and other promoters, approximately 25 per cent went to the Bollaert brothers.

Only seven of the 11 starting teams finished the grind. At midnight, Frankie Turano, who had raced two days with a badly injured shoulder, collapsed after a spill and his partner, Mike De Filippo, teamed with Eddie Schroeder, whose brother, Jack, had dropped out at 9:40 p. m.

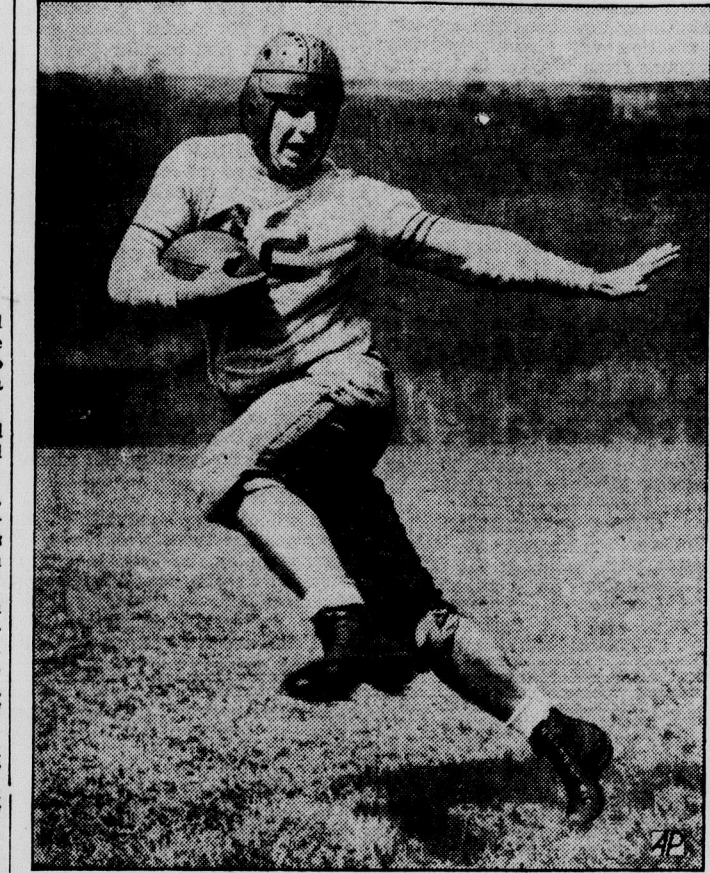

The move cost De Filippo a penalty of four laps and almost certain victory. He and Eddie Schroeder finished three laps behind the Bollaerts, but were far ahead on points.

DELAY MIDGET RACES
LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Atlantic boulevard stadium, dark tonight, will resume its weekly program of midget auto racing next Tuesday night. A 50-lap event will feature the competition.

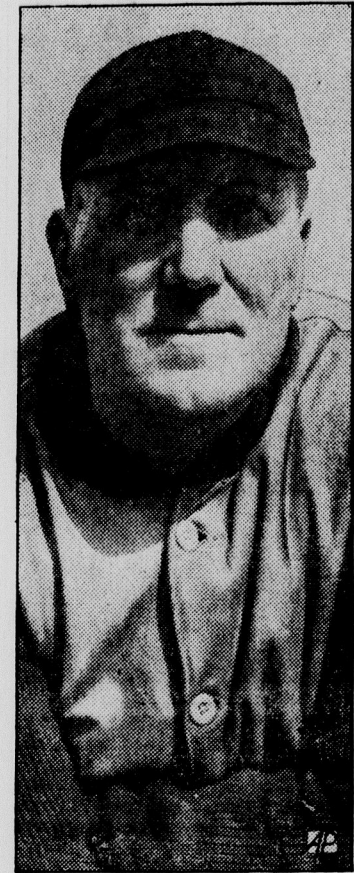

O'Brien's was .507. O'Brien had his big day last season when he completed 10 of the 14 passes he tossed against Centenary. Against six other opponents he pitched the ball 32 times, completing 16 passes. Only four of his tosses fell into enemy hands all last season.

Little Davey is not merely a passing threat. He can and does carry the ball. As a matter of fact, the entire running game of the Frogs seems to be built around this sturdy little ball-carrier.

Pittsburgh's Panthers Rely on Marshall Goldberg For Return Trip to Rose Bowl

WATCH PITTSBURGH'S SMOKE, said Panther fans who looked to last year's Rose Bowl champions to repeat as the powerhouse charged into a new season at full stride. Again this year the coach counted on Marshall "Biggie" Goldberg (above), sophomore start of 1935, to be chief scoring threat.

... AND HIS EYES, registered determination to bring victory to the university as Coach Sutherland watched the team's every move, to ...

... SEE A NEW STAR in the person of Richard "Bandy" Cassiano (above), 20-year-old sophomore, who accounted for five touchdowns in the team's opening game. Buried like many another high school ace in a poor freshman team, the curly haired athlete-scholar rose to the heights.

DON-S. B. TILT MAY DECIDE J. C. PENNANT

Having left three of their league playmates to bring up the rear this season, four Eastern J. C. conference football teams were drilling today for Friday night tilts which may narrow the field for the title to but three teams if all the favorites come through as expected.

Riverside is certain to be on top Saturday as the Bengals play one of the first inter-sectional junior college games, traveling north to play the S. F. U. freshmen.

Either Santa Ana or San Bernardino Jayvees must fall from the top as the "two teams" to heat for the championship. Cul-de-in what is being described as the game to settle the circuit flag at San Bernardino Friday night.

Pomona which was led by Johnny Casey, all-conference fullback of 1936, in a trouncing of Citrus last week, may be shoved from the top of the heap when Bert Heuser's Chaffey Panthers attempt to redeem themselves for the lacing the Dons gave them Friday night. The Red Raiders ran up a total of 401 yards from scrimmage in beating the Owls.

Giving the regulars a rest yesterday, Cook sent mostly third and fourth stringers through their paces on the bowl turf. Bill Wilson, who slipped through the Panther line and backfield for a 30-yard run in the closing seconds of play Friday, was at the key quarterback post and apparently has the makings of a good sub for either Bias Mercurio or Oliver McCarter.

Four first-stringers and two seconds were on the ailing list. Both Co-Capt. Erwin Yonel and Ed Stanley are favoring leg injuries while Giants Rusty Roquet and Dick Tauber showed up sporting injuries. Tauber still favors a bad shoulder which got little rest against the Chaffey forwards. Roquet has a bad sprain near the groin.

Fights Last Night

CHICAGO. — Harold Browne, 144½, Chicago, outpointed George Salvador, 144½, Houston, Texas (10).
DES MOINES, Iowa. — Al Manfred, 148, Fresno, Calif., outpointed Henry Schaft, 149, Minneapolis (10).

Bob Nestell Makes Comeback Against Maxie Rosenbloom

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Bob Nestell, young California heavyweight, shelves the memory of a defeat by Bob Pastor tonight to take on Maxie Rosenbloom, New York veteran, in a 10-round bout.

A good showing against Slapsie-Maxie would restore Nestell's local prestige and put him in line for engagements in the East.

King birds, however, have rated Rosenbloom a 10-8 favorite. He boasts he has not been knocked out in more than 15 years.

CUBS LEADING SOX, 3 TO 2

CHICAGO. (AP)—The Cubs went out to stop an old White Sox habit today — that of winning another city baseball title.

Holding three victories to two for the Cubs as the result of their 6 to 4 win over the National leaguers yesterday at Comiskey park, the Sox sent Right-hander Vernon Kennedy after their 15th city baseball championship and their fourth in a row. A win for the Cubs, who will start Southpaw Larry French, will change the scene of action from Comiskey Park to the Cubs' home lot, Wrigley Field, for the seventh and final tilt.

Monty Stratton, the lean right-hander who won 15 games in American league competition this past season, was the winning pitcher as the Sox went ahead of the National leaguers yesterday, but it was Clint Brown's relief hurling that saved the encounter for Jimmy Dykes' team. With one run in, none out and two on, Brown replaced Stratton in the seventh and retired the side while allowing only one more Cub to cross the plate.

JOE LOUIS-STAR CONTEST 'OFF'

There will be no appearance of Joe Louis' negro softball aggregation at the Municipal bowl tonight. Negotiations for a game, opened here last week, have fallen through with Santa Ana's Stars, Commissioner Horace Snow announced today.

Turf Earnings of Famed Seabiscuit Rival War Admiral

NEW YORK. (AP)—Seabiscuit, C. S. Howard's speedy four-year-old, goes after the No. 1 spot in the year's list of racing money winners at Jamaica today.

The four-year-old son of Hard Tack would have that place already if he hadn't been nosed out by Rosemont in the rich Santa Anita handicap. Today he faces a field of good handicap racers in the $10,000 added Continental handicap. A victory will put him well ahead of War Admiral, which won't race again for at least a few weeks more.

So far this year, Seabiscuit, purchased for $7500 last season, has earned $143,530. War Admiral's winnings before he was injured in the Belmont stakes last June, were $144,620.

NAVY DRAWS HARVARD IN BIG TEST

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK. (AP)—It already has been pretty well established that Cornell's football fortunes, under the coaching of Carl Snavely, have made a great comeback in two seasons. Another college, which started out to recover a few seasons back by hiring a new coach, has been as successful in its effort.

Dick Harlow took over the job at Cambridge a year before Snavely moved in at Cornell. Both had about as far to go from the depths of football had reached at the two institutions to the heights the alumni hoped they would attain and, if Harlow has been slower, it probably was because he didn't have as good material.

In two preparatory games, the Crimson team has looked as if it might be as good as Cornell already has turned out to be. Harvard hasn't tackled any opposition like Penn State, Colgate and Princeton yet, but it walloped Springfield 54-0 and a Brown team that looks a lot better than the Bruins of the past few years, 34-7.

Next Saturday Harvard tackles Navy, which also has been promising to be one of the best teams in the East. The Midshipmen scored 117 points to 13 against William and Mary, the citadel and Virginia.

Navy has an edge in size over the Crimson squad and one fine back in Bill Ingram. Harvard has some aerial strength in losing here, 13-7, last week, scored via the aerial route, and at times bewildered the Saint secondary. Long Beach was a constant thorn in the Saints' side with their aerial maneuvers, and Whittier completed some long ones.

Cornell, meanwhile is slated to run up against another of those come-back-hound teams Saturday, Syracuse, which placed Ossie Solem at the helm this year in an effort to regain lost ground. It may mean trouble for Snavely's big red team, for Syracuse has been coming along rapidly and may be better than Cornell to take a fall out of its upstate rival. Cornell has to think about Yale the following week and can't devote too much attention to this game.

These two games come close to being top in the " Ivy league," which has gone a long way toward regaining its old-time gridiron place in the past two years, but another pair are almost as attractive to the cash customers. Yale and Army clash in their traditional battle at New Haven and from this may emerge one team that will outshine both Cornell and Harvard before the season ends. Penn and Columbia, who fell before the Ells and the Cadets last week, have a "consolation" game, Yale, featuring Clint Frank, looked very good in walloping Penn 27-7 last Saturday. Army, although badly disturbed at times by Sid Luckman's passing, came through 21-18 against Columbia. Princeton, another member of the indoor football circuit, goes west to face Chicago while Dartmouth gets its first test against Brown.

Sports Mirror

Today a year ago—Tazio Nuvolari of Italy won Vanderbilt cup automobile race before 60,000.
Five years ago—Jimmy DeForest, veteran trainer, died at Long Branch, N. J.; Frank B. York, president of Brooklyn Dodgers, resigned and was succeeded by Stephen W. McKeever.

Oregon, U.S.C. Will Stress Offensive Tactics Saturday

LOS ANGELES. — Oregon's rejuvenated Webfoot and Southern California's equally rejuvenated Trojans meet Saturday in the Coliseum in a game in which football offense will predominate, forecasting repetition of last week's 13-12 thriller between U. S. C. and Ohio State.

Southern California's running attack, with Quarterback "Amblin" Amby's Schindler in the driver's seat last Saturday, functioned against the Buckeyes with much of the old power of Thundering Herd days at Troy. At the same time Oregon was producing a combination of power and razzle dazzle that swamped by a 40-6 score a Gonzaga eleven that had previously shown its strength by tying Washington State and St. Mary's.

SAINTS STRESS PASS DEFENSE

Fullback Bill Musick and Guard Bob Maddock, still on the ailing list with sprained ankles, are expected to rejoin Santa Ana's Saints tomorrow to drill for their Citrus Belt league inaugural with Chaffey here Friday afternoon.

Work yesterday was centered around improving the Saints' passing defense, which has been "shot" by every opponent thus far. Hunt-ington Beach's Oilers, who flashed some aerial strength in losing here, 13-7, last week, scored via the aerial route, and at times bewildered the Saint secondary. Long Beach was a constant thorn in the Saints' side with their aerial maneuvers, and Whittier completed some long ones.

TOP ROW BACK AT ARCADIA

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Top Row, hope of the A. A. Baroni stables, was back today at the scene of his greatest conquest—the Santa Ana $100,000 handicap of 1936.

With nine running mates, Top Row arrived at the Arcadia track from Belmont Park, N. Y. He will stay here but one or two of the other Baroni horses may be sent north to Bay Meadows and Tanforan.

A leg injury received last spring kept Top Row from going post-ward while he was in the East.

ALONG THE FOOTBALL FRONT

MORAGA, Calif. (AP)—Right Halfback Harry Aronson and Tackle Fidel Nielson of St. Mary's, whose injuries kept them from the Nevada game Saturday, will be ready to start against Loyola at Los Angeles next Sunday, Coach E. P. (Slip) Madigan reported.

BERKELEY. (AP)—The California Aggies and College of Pacific may be just "breather" games for California Saturday but the Bear first string will start both games, said Coach L. B. (Stub) Allison. "They need an hour of football to build themselves up," Allison explained. "We'll have tough games every Saturday from then on."

LUTZE WHIPS BAXTER IN ROUGH BOUT

Knocked into press row four times—smashing a chair and falling into the laps of two ringers—Lifeguard Nick Lutze nevertheless had enough to come back and defeat heavy-set LaVerne Baxter, the North Carolina rougher, in straight falls in O. C. A. C wrestling last night.

Lutze was on the receiving end of a world of punishment when Baxter jolted him through the north ropes and sent him toppling into press row each time Lutze attempted to crawl back into the ring.

All of his illegal tactics combined to disqualify Mr. Baxter after 14 min. 43 secs. of rough going, and it took Lutze only 3 min. 3 secs. to pin his rival's shoulders in the second fall. Referee Mickey McMasters was in the heat of the conflict, and was slammed around no little by Baxter.

Casey Columbo, making a return appearance after several months' absence, clamped an arm stretch on Ignacio Martinez, idol of the Mexicans, to win his opening fall in 19 min. 21 secs. Martinez took the second with a leg split in 2 min. 34 secs, but Columbo won the match with a body press in 43 secs. of the third fall.

Surrendering in the first fall on a Japanese short arm-lock in 20 min. 14 secs, Dirty Pat Riley resorted to illegal slugging to whip Myron Cox in 6 min. 9 secs. of the third. All he received for his victory was concentrated booing from the gallery.

Argentine Horse At Bay Meadows

SAN MATEO. (AP)—The big Argentine horse Cascabelito, making its first start on the Bay Meadows race track, was favored to take the $1500 added San Jose mile handicap today. Cascabelito, a 3-year-old colt, was assigned top weight of 116 pounds. Other entries included Sarada, which ran third in the inaugural Saturday; Gray Jack, Watersplash, Exotude, Blue Bud and Illeana.

Wrestling Last Night

LANCASTER, Pa.—Dean Detton, 207, Salt Lake City, threw Mike Mazurki, 222, New York. WILMINGTON, Del. — Chief Thunderbird, Vancouver, defeated Wally Dusek, 220, Omaha, two straight falls.

Joe McCarthy will be awarded with a new contract calling for $40,000 per . . . Likely to be five years, too . . . Colonel Rupert doesn't intend to let any rival baseball outfit out-do him on the old pay-off . . . Whatever Joe gets, it will not be too much . . . Three losses in beating Washington, 6 to 3, the winning touchdown coming on a pass.

SEATTLE. (AP)—Coach Jimmy Phelan drilled his Washington Huskies in pass defense today as they prepared for their "civil war" battle across the mountains at Pullman Saturday against Washington State college. Though W. S. C. failed to gain through the air against California last week, Phelan nevertheless began patching his air defenses, because Oregon State completed 13 of 24 passes in beating Washington, 6 to 3, the winning touchdown coming on a pass.

WASHINGTON HAS FINGER FRACTURED

Guards Have Broken Noses; Ferguson Quits Football

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Bad news swamped the U. C. L. A. gridiron today. The gloomy items, in order:

Don Ferguson, shifty senior left halfback, has quit football to devote all his time to studies and the presidency of the student body.

George Pfeiffer, 210-pound regular right guard, and sub-guard Louis Kyrie have broken noses.

Kenny Washington, brilliant negro halfback, has a broken little finger on his pitching hand, which hampered him against Stanford last week and must be taped up before he can throw passes against Oregon State on Saturday.

Last—but not least—Scout Cliff Simpson swears Oregon State is the biggest and best defensive team he has seen this season, and in Joe Gray, the Beavers have a peerless backfield star.

To prove his words, Simpson gave his "goods" a series of Oregon State plays which produced a touchdown against the regulars in short order yesterday.

JONES WARNS TROY AGAINST OREGON
LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Light scrimmage engaged the Southern California football squad today while Coach Howard Jones warned that Oregon will be hard to beat Saturday.

All the regulars who saw service against Ohio State last week are expected to be in shape except Ray George, big tackle, who suffered a hip injury.

LIEB PRAISES GAIL PASSING TREAT
LOS ANGELES. (AP) — After thrice scouting St. Mary's Gails, who play his Loyola Lions here Sunday, Coach Tom Lieb expressed confidence today that he has some good cues to the probable St. Mary's offense.

He said Ed Back Rimassa was the Gail's outstanding runner and one of the best passers he has seen this year.

SPORTS Roundup
By
EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK. (AP)—Watch out for Virginia in football next year . . . Coach Frank Murray (the old Marquette wizard) has 35 all-state high school players on his 110-man freshman squad . . . Travis (Ole Horse) Jackson came out of that Jersey City nightmare with only four new gray hairs . . . Fans wonder why the Atlanta crackers canned Eddie Moore, who won two pennants and finished second once in his three years' management . . . Just what does a guy have to do to hold a job in that league? . . . The auto license plates of Lou Little, Columbia coach, are numbered "L-11."

An authoritative Beantown source wires: "You were slightly off key on Maranville today . . . He hasn't a chance to succeed McKeechie as manager of the Bees . . . Some years back he thumbed his nose at a coaching job and Bob Quinn has never forgiven him . . . The Rabbit is down to low 'G' with Quinn . . . Donnie Bush is the man on the inside tracks." . . . Thanks, mister.

NEW PROTEST ON HANDBILL ORDINANCE

A vigorous protest against a new ordinance which would ban free distribution of advertising matter was registered with the city council last night.

The protest came from K. L. Harbert, manager of the Orange County Distribution service, who appealed to the council to consider the ordinance very carefully before passing such a strict measure.

"Within our organization alone," Harbert said, "three families whose sole livelihood consists of distribution of such matter would be thrown out of work with no other present means of support. No less than 45 carriers will lose their routes. Many of the boys buy all their own clothes from revenue derived from this work.

"Boys paying for bicycles from their own money, and several boys whose entire monthly check goes to buy bread and milk for their families, would lose their jobs. These are all Santa Ana families which would be affected.

"On the other side, this agitation against 'throwaways' centers in people who do not want their doorsteps cluttered up with advertising matter. A recent survey by four Santa Ana firms using this method of advertising found two families in the city annoyed to the extent of phoning to ask such distribution be stopped."

The letter was referred to the council as a whole for consideration when the handbill matter will come before the council next Monday night.

Oil Company Trial Continued

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The trial of 23 oil companies, three trade journals, and 48 executives on Sherman anti-trust act charges went into its second week today.

Carl Berth, president of the Acme Petroleum company, Chicago, who testified for the government last Friday that the buying program of the major companies cut off some success of his company's supply of gasoline, was to be cross-examined by the defense.

The government charges that the major companies raised and fixed gasoline prices by signing jobbers to contracts based on prices at small refineries and then buying up most of the refiners' output at artificially high prices, thus raising their own income from the gasoline sold in 10 mid-west states.

New Building Code To Be Discussed

Consideration of a new uniform building code for Santa Ana will occupy members of the city council next Monday night.

A recommendation that the city adopt the 1937 uniform building code because the 1935 code now is obsolete was made to the council last night by Building Inspector Harold Rasmussen.

The matter was referred to Councilman William Penn for study and a report back at the next meeting.

Schenck Buys Villa Riviera

LONG BEACH. (AP)—Purchase of the palatial Villa Riviera, apartment hotel, by Joseph M. Schenck, motion picture producer, and his former wife, Norma Talmadge, was announced here today by John A. DeLong, resident manager. The price was reported to be $1,500,000.

The hotel was erected on the beach here in 1929, the tallest building in the city, as an owner-your-own apartment building. It has been patronized by many high ranking officers of the United States navy.

Bus Line Change Gets Approval

Changes in service by the Santa Ana Bus company, operated by C. H. Eckles, approved last night by the city council, will result in discontinuance of one line and extension of another.

Eckles sought permission to discontinue operation of the East Fourth street, Wright street and East First street line, and to use the time formerly used on this line in an extension of the South Birch-Orange avenue line.

To Inspect Soil Erosion Areas

A chance to inspect soil erosion control methods near El Toro, Lemon Heights and Orange Park Acres was offered today by W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, and the Soil Conservation service.

All persons interested in the tour will meet at 9 a. m. tomorrow at the Tustin Hills Lemon association, a quarter mile north of East First street on Newport road. Transportation will be provided.

12,000 Mexicans Moved by U. S.

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—By repatriation of 100 Mexican families in recent months, Los Angeles county has saved about $27,000 in relief costs.

Rex Thomson, superintendent of charities, said more than 12,000 Mexicans have been repatriated to their native land in the past four years, with the aid of the Mexican government.

YACHTSMEN TO MEET AT NEWPORT

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Following his return from several months in Europe, Com. Albert Soland, chairman of the Newport Harbor Regatta association, has called an important meeting of that body to complete the program for the past yachting season.

Membership of the regatta association is made up of representatives of various civic units interested in yachting activities in the harbor area. City Councilman E. B. Whitson, with Harry Welch, secretary of the harbor chamber, were appointed to act for the city of Newport Beach while Commodore Soland and Capt. William J. Brown act for the chamber of commerce. The Newport Harbor Yacht club has its commodore and vice commodore. William A. Bartholomae, jr. and Shirley E. Meserve to represent its interests with Harry Welch, secretary of the harbor chamber, were appointed to act for the city of Newport Beach while Commodore Soland and Capt. William J. Brown act for the chamber of commerce. The Newport Harbor Yacht club has its commodore and vice commodore. William A. Bartholomae, jr. and Shirley E. Meserve to represent its interests with Harry Welch, secretary of the harbor chamber, were appointed to act for the city of Newport Beach while Commodore Soland and Capt. William J. Brown act for the chamber of commerce.

Cooperating with the yachting groups, the regatta association secured a trophy fund for Newport harbor race week held in August. Donors to this fund were City of Newport Beach, $100; Newport harbor chamber of commerce, $100; trophies from the Helms foundation, Long Beach Press-Telegram and the chamber of commerce of Newport harbor. Cash donations were from James Irvine, J. A. Beek, S. M. Griffith, C. A. Price, W. H. Rohl, Ida Brinkman, C. H. Reed, Phelps Terkel, Newport Dredging company, Bay District Lumber company, John Legg, H. R. Rankin, Ernie Fors and others.

Doings Of Yorba Lindans

YORBA LINDA.—Mrs. Clyde Watson of Orange, wife of the state assemblyman from the southern part of the county, was the principal speaker at the October meeting of the Yorba Linda P. T. club at the grammar school.

Sea Serpent Fossil Found In San Joaquin Valley

BERKELEY.—Spectacular proof that the fabled sea serpent really did exist has been brought right home to California, with the finding and examination of a splendidly preserved fossil, Plesiosaur, in the San Joaquin valley.

The monster, which in some 30 feet long in its fossilized form, is of a particularly rare type, according to Dr. L. C. Camp, curator of the Museum of Paleontology, University of California, who assisted in directing the excavation work.

FOUND BY YORKER

The specimen was first uncovered by Frank Paive, a laborer, while hunting for gypsum in the dry lake bed 30 miles west of Mendota. The fossil was found in a quarry, which may have been an adjunct to its digestive system. In order to completely uncover the specimen it was necessary to blast out the rock and then scrape away the earth and rock fragments with mallet and chisel.

FINED $350

ORANGE.—T. H. Lowry, Orange, was fined $350 by Justice of the Peace Cal D. Lester Monday, following his Sunday in Santa Ana canyon. Officer Horace E. Inge made the arrest.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

Last call to hear Mirandy, Eclahoma and Woody, all of radio Hill Billy, notoriety of the Fairfield character. Santa Ana club No. 8 is presenting the trio at 8 o'clock tonight in Townsend hall, 509 West Fourth street. J. H. Nicholson, president, will introduce the entertainers. Admission will be 10 cents, to pay expenses. The balance will promote Townsend interests. Don't fail to hear these people—they will please you immensely.

Santa Ana club No. 6 is meeting in the community building of the First Christian church, Sixth and Broadway, at 7:30 this evening, with A. M. Mapes in charge. After the business session there will be a rehearsal for the forthcoming home talent play.

Santa Ana club No. 5 will meet at 7:30 tonight for a brief business meeting and will adjourn to hear Mirandy and the Hill Billies.

The Rev. Joe Nation of Long Beach will address Oceanview club No. 1 at 7:30 this evening in the Wintersburg Methodist church. A brief announcement of tonight's meeting. The public is invited.

Don't forget "The Personality Kiddies," who will deliver a business session later.

It will be sad news to Orange county Townsendsites to hear that Col. Ralph D. Horton was seriously injured in an automobile accident Friday evening. He suffered severe cuts and head injuries but the extent of his other injury was not known. No Townsend speaker in Southern California has been more loyal and dependable than has Col. Horton. He was to have spoken Sunday afternoon in Arlington. He is in a Hollywood hospital.

Frank Arbuckle, former national director of the Townsend organization, spoke last week at one of the noon meetings being held in the Biltmore theater. Arbuckle is reported to have said his absence from the movement was caused by a need to replenish his financial resources, which suffered a considerable set back from expenses incurred last year while he was a candidate for congress. He was defeated and went into real estate at which he has been successful. Senator Arbuckle, as he is known, the nation over among Townsendsites, got recognition because of his ability as convention chairman of Chicago and Cleveland national conventions. Townsendsites will be glad to hear of his return to Townsend work.

Costa Mesa club No. 3 is meeting in the Townsend building, Twenty-second and Newport boulevard, at 7:30 this evening, with Mrs. Lena Burdick in the chair. Entertainment will be provided.

Hollywood Resident, 85, Has Never Seen a Movie

LOS ANGELES.—(AP)—It may be heresy in the cinema stronghold of Southern California, but here lives a man in his eighty-fifth year who has never seen a movie and he says he's too old to start now.

He is Jacob Keller Rodeman, a retired merchant, who gets his recreation from the radio and reading, mainly history and the Bible. He has lived here seven years.

Sea Serpent Fossil Found In San Joaquin Valley

BERKELEY.—Spectacular proof that the fabled sea serpent really did exist has been brought right home to California, with the finding and examination of a splendidly preserved fossil, Plesiosaur, in the San Joaquin valley.

The monster, which in some 30 feet long in its fossilized form, is of a particularly rare type, according to Dr. L. C. Camp, curator of the Museum of Paleontology, University of California, who assisted in directing the excavation work.

Up to this time the Plesiosaur, great turtle-like marine reptile, has been unknown on this coast, although fossil fragments have been found elsewhere in the country.

FOUND BY YORKER

The specimen was first uncovered by Frank Paive, a laborer, while hunting for gypsum in the dry lake bed 30 miles west of Mendota. The fossil was found in a quarry, which may have been an adjunct to its digestive system. In order to completely uncover the specimen it was necessary to blast out the rock and then scrape away the earth and rock fragments with mallet and chisel.

The region in which the Plesiosaur was found also yielded two other outstanding fossil specimens, in the recent past, a dinosaur and a mosasaur, the latter a great lizard-like creature resembling the modern dragon lizards of the East Indies. Both of the specimens were found by Allen Bennison, a student in the university.

ORANGE 'Y' OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY

ORANGE.—Observance of the Founder's Day of Y. M. C. A. yesterday led by J. B. Wilbur, secretary of the Anaheim Y. M. C. A., at the semi-annual Orange-Anaheim Raggers' reunion in the First Presbyterian church here last evening.

In a brief talk following dinner, Wilbur stated that celebration of the Founder's Day is being observed throughout the world with more than 10,000 centers and 87 countries participating.

He told how George Williams, the founder, organized a young men's club in a large city about 75 years ago. At that time, he pointed out, there were 12 members enrolled. Today, Wilbur said, Williams' "club" has become universal with a 2,000,000 member registration.

Among those introduced by presiding officer, Art Hobson, were Conrad Jongeward, former "Y" secretary at Anaheim; Dr. Robert B. McAuley, pastor of the First Presbyterian church; Sheldon Swenson, "Y" secretary of Orange; the Rev. Arthur T. Hobson, pastor of the First Methodist church; Walt Taylor, Mrs. Peck-enpaw, camp nurse, and Mrs. R. M. Warren, camp pianist.

GROVE P.T.A. PROGRAM SET

GARDEN GROVE.—Acceptance of the program and budget scheduled for the year and the decision to sponsor a troop of Camp Fire Girls were effected at a recent meeting of the executive board of the Garden Grove Grammar School Parent-Teacher association.

Mrs. W. B. Merchant was selected as leader for the new organization for girls. The budget report was made by Mrs. D. S. Jordan.

The year's program was outlined by the committee chairman, Mrs. Nellie Stoesser and Mrs. A. J. Hayman, will center around the theme, "Peace Through Understanding." Substitutes for the various programs include for the second meeting on November 4, "Peaceful Attitudes Lead to Progress in Education." On Dec. 2 the theme will be "True Christmas Spirit." Jan. 6, "Psychological Effects of Peace on Children." Feb. 3 will be a fathers' night with founders' day program; March 3, the subject will be "Peaceful Minds Create." April 7, "Healthy, Happy, Peaceful Leisure." May 5, "Thoughtfulness and Peaceful Habits in Regard to Animals and Foodstuffs." The January program will be in the form of a panel discussion.

H. B. COUNCIL MAY BUY LAND

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Purchase of a huge block of land for beach and other recreational purposes was postponed by the city council here last night after council members had questioned the price asked by the Mills Land and Water company as being too high.

Councilmen were reported to be prepared to offer about $10,000 for the property, which lies near the east city limit. Price asked by the land company is $70 per front foot for beach property and $500 per acre for other land. Action may be taken at another meeting.

The proposed development would include additional beaches, picnic grounds, pavilions, athletic facilities, buildings and yacht canals, residents said.

The council also considered plans for the new beach pavilion which has been approved by WPA officials and a grant offered the city. Architects reported that cost of material would raise the total price of the project from the original $41,306 to about $46,800.

FROM LEARNING FROM HODKINS THE FACTS CONCERNING EMBRY GARDENS BIRTH, MYRA AND JACK CONDEME A PLAN WHEREBY THEY WOULD TO GO OUT WHENEVER SCALPATOR DIED A NATURAL DEATH.

IT WILL BE SOME LITTLE TIME UNTIL WE GET THE CORONER'S REPORT ON THE AUTOPSY, MYRA. WHAT DO YOU SUGGEST WE DO IN THE MEANTIME?

SUPPOSE I RUN DOWN AND SEE IF THAT DENTIST, DR. MEEKER, CAN HELP US.

A SPLENDID IDEA, MYRA. MEANWHILE, I'LL CHECK WITH HODKINS ON EVERY GUEST WHO WAS AT THE PARTY. THE NIGHT JEFFREY WAS KILLED.

IF WE COULD FIND THAT APPOINTMENT BOOK, OUR TASK WOULD BE SIMPLE, MR. LANE.

DESCENDING TO THE FLOOR BELOW THE PENT HOUSE, MYRA PRESSES THE BUTTON ON DR. MEEKER'S SUIT.

I BEG YOUR PARDON. THIS IS THE WRONG DOOR. MISS—THE DOCTOR'S OFFICE IS AT THE FAR END OF THE CORRIDOR.

MUM—THAT MUST BE MEEKER'S WIFE. AND ATTRACTIVE ENOUGH TO DELIGHT ANY ARTIST FOR WHOM SHE MIGHT CONSENT TO ROSE, I'D SAY.

AND THEN, AS MYRA ENTERS THE DENTIST'S LITTLE WAITING ROOM, SHE SUDDENLY DECIDES ON AN ENTIRELY DIFFERENT ANGLE OF APPROACH.

JUST HAVE A SEAT—I'LL BE WITH YOU IN A MOMENT—

BUT, DOCTOR, I'M NOT A PATIENT—I'M THE NURSE YOU CALLED THE AGENCY ABOUT—

WHAT'S THE TROUBLE? NO NO—I'LL BE ALL RIGHT IN A MOMENT—MAY I HAVE SOME WATER.

SAY! YOU'RE ALL IN! HAVE YOU BEEN OUT OF WORK FOR LONG?

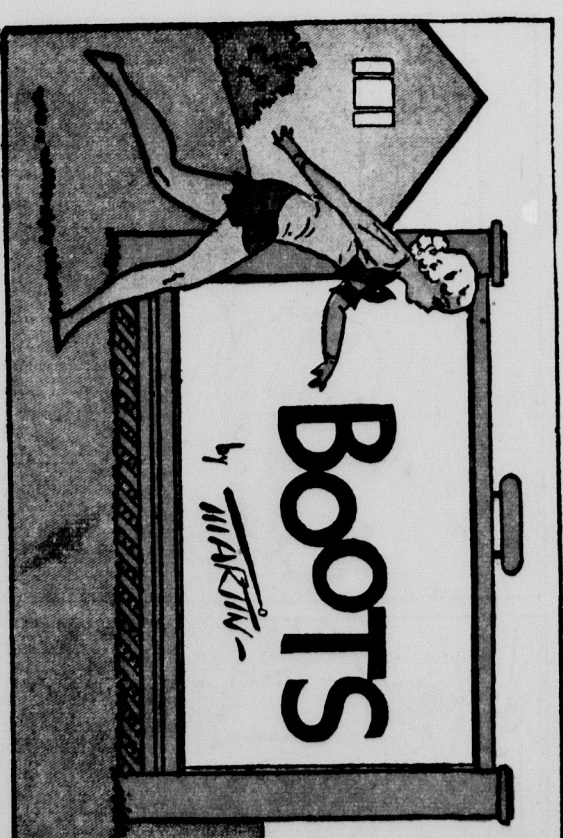

WELL, I, YOU SEE— I'M FROM OUT OF TOWN AND—

THERE, THERE—I QUITE UNDERSTAND— PERHAPS I CAN PUT YOU ON FOR A FEW DAYS— IF YOU'RE A GOOD NURSE!

OH, THANK YOU, DOCTOR.

OH, I'M SORRY— I MUST HAVE THE WRONG FLOOR— THEY TOLD ME—I—OH! MY HEAD!

WHAT'S THAT? I'M AFRAID I DIDN'T SEND FOR A NURSE.

FRAGMENTS OF MAN'S EARLY HISTORY THE SCIENCE OF TREE RINGS

WHILE not new to science, the study of tree rings is the newest aid to science in determining the age of prehistoric finds. For every year of a tree's growth, a ring is formed in the cross grain of its trunk. Recent discoveries show that each ring is indicative of that year's climatic condition. To wit: A very wet year causes the forming of a much thicker ring than the ring formed during a period of drought.

THUS, a tree made up of two thousand rings would be two thousand years old. Now, if the seven-hundredth ring, counting from the center, was much heavier than the others, it would indicate a very wet year over three hundred years ago. All trees in this area over three hundred years old would exhibit a similar ring. The finding of a timber in a very old building, then, with a ring formation, would definitely date its construction as prior to thirteen hundred years ago.

The wet ring in the 2000-year-old tree.

The corresponding wet ring in a tree that, by counting from the center, must have been 400 years old at the time the first tree was a seedling... 400 more rings from center to wet ring.

THE HORNS REALLY ARE TUBERCLES, OR SPINES, THESE FORM A MARSHALL FRIDGE ABOUT THE BODY AND TAIL, AND ARE LARGEST ON THE HEAD.

WHEN EXCITED OR ANGRY, THEY ARE ABLE TO SQUIRT A STREAM OF BLOOD FROM THE CORNERS OF THEIR EYES TO A DISTANCE OF SEVERAL FEET.

THE CREATURES ARE HARMLESS TO HUMANS; THERE ARE SOME TWO DOZEN SPECIES, MANY OF WHICH SOME LIE AT MOST WITHOUT HORNS AT ALL.

DROP PARK PLAN FROM NOVEMBER BALLOT

AUTO COURT
BANNED FROM
BOULEVARDCouncil Disapproves
12-Unit Project

Business is business. But it can't go on Santa Ana boulevard.

The city council decided this last night when it turned down a proposal for establishment of business enterprises on the main artery leading into this city.

Hopes of W. C. Kester for approval of plans to build a 12-unit, Monterey type group of auto courts immediately east of the oil station fronting on Santa Ana boulevard at Chapman avenue went glimmering last night, if the council's word is final.

FAIL TO AGREE
By a vote of four to one, the city trustees denied the application submitted last week by Kester. Last week the council referred the problem to Councilmen William Penn and Plummer L. Bruns. But they couldn't agree.

Penn, who cast the "no" vote on the denial, said that Kester can build his auto courts at the location anyway, because part of the property is in Orange and he can have the entrance in Orange. He recommended that the property be posted for special use and that if there were complaints from property owners, the council then could hear them.

RECALLS BAN
Bruns, however, came out emphatically against establishment of any kind of business on Santa Ana boulevard. He said the road had cost the city and property owners more than $300,000 and that a former city council had expressly agreed with property owners that it was to be zoned for residence only, to keep out hot-dog stands and such enterprises.

Last week the city planning commission had recommended denial of the application. Last night Bruns moved that the application be denied and it carried over Penn's opposing vote.

The council also showed its determination to keep business off Santa Ana boulevard last week by denying a request by Eleanor M. Minter for permission to rezone the northeast corner of Flower and Santa Ana boulevard for neighborhood business.

TO CLOSE DRIVES

Driveways in front of the courthouse annex on Broadway will be permanently closed, if plans of the city council are carried out.

Councilman William Penn last night proposed that the driveways be closed to afford parking space for from four to six more cars.

Woman Proves Mousetrap Adage
By MILLARD BROWNE

A by-word in the household of one Santa Ana woman is Emerson's famed quote: "If a man can make a better mousetrap than his neighbor, though he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."

She is Mrs. L. C. Slack. She doesn't quite live in the woods, but almost does. The fruit stand she runs in conjunction with her husband's service station, is situated at comparatively out-of-the-way Seventeenth and Flower streets.

From there, though, the analogy holds up. Her "mousetrap": a brandy-flavored persimmon pudding built around a special, secret recipe. And in two short years the world has made at least a by-path to her door.

Mrs. Slack's persimmon puddings—just a by-product of her fresh fruit business—have traveled to nearly every part of the world and she's shipped them to every state in the union.

She put up 1500 last year, probably will boost it to around 2000 this season. She's made 52 puddings so far, and the persimmon season has barely started.

It's an interesting business that Mrs. Slack has built up. And now that it's clicking along at a fast enough rate to keep her busy seven days a week, she doesn't mind admitting the enterprise was started because she was forced into it.

The Slacks had been operating a service station, getting business mostly from steady customers and a few passers-by on moderately-traveled Seventeenth street. The rent was boosted two years ago, however, and the gasoline business wouldn't support the thing.

So Mrs. Slack took over a corner of the filling-station lot and stocked it with oranges, gradually adding other fruits in season.

A neighbor asked her to sell persimmons. She did, and they went like wild-fire. Nothing but ripe ones were put on the stand, however, and leftovers at the end of the day were over-ripe for the next day's consumption.

So Mrs. Slack sniffed around for persimmon pudding recipes. She found several, adapted them with some hunches of her own, and started putting them on the market. They "caught" with her small class clientele almost immediately, and now her patrons send them to friends for Christmas, Thanksgiving, Easter and other holidays.

The puddings, probably because of the brandy, will keep indefinitely, like fruit cake and plum pudding.

Mrs. Slack's No. 2 specialty also is a by-product—orange juice. She puts only the perfect specimens on her stand, culls out those with flaws. She re-examines each and makes juice of those that have been marred but not damaged otherwise.

She does a good business in other fresh fruits—apricots, berries, pomegranates, apples, figs, etc.—and she has a by-product for each of these. Leftovers all are converted into home-made marmalade, preserves, jams and jellies.

During the Christmas season, Mrs. Slack ships more fruit than any other business in Santa Ana. Last year she sent two small shipments all the way to Germany.

When the homey little enterprise started, the Slacks handled the whole thing themselves. Mr. Slack watched the stand while she was making puddings and canning fruit, and she tended the service station while he went after a trailer-full of fresh oranges, apricots or persimmons.

Now she has one full-time helper, three during the Christmas rush. Although she plans to do more specializing on her persimmon pudding, she's given up the idea of discontinuing the other sidelines.

Business at the unique stand starts early in the morning and ends late at night. All the stock must be carried in at night, dusted off, sorted and rearranged every morning. Busiest hours are from 2 till 7 p. m., and Sunday is the busiest day. Early morning is Mrs. Slack's only chance to do her cooking and canning.

Around 100 regular customers drop by almost every Sunday. About 20 per cent of them come from Long Beach to stock up for the week. Mrs. Slack explained, and others from Pasadena, Los Angeles and Hollywood drop by during their Sunday afternoon outings.

Mrs. Slack doesn't figure she has any real competition, or that she's competing with anyone else. "When people want quality, they'll go out of their way to get it," she said, "and most of them expect to pay a little more for it."

She admits that special handling and weeding out of second rate fruit adds a little to her prices. Use of all leftovers in "by-products" is the only thing that keeps this special handling from being prohibitive.

WILL DISCUSS
SEWER CLASS

Questions of withdrawal by the city of Orange from the outfall sewer district will be a special order of business when the joint outfall sewer district meets tomorrow night in Anaheim city hall.

Last night the city council received a letter from Secretary Grover L. Walters of the joint outfall district, urging all members of the Santa Ana city council, together with the city engineer and city attorney, to attend the meeting.

A motion made by Councilman Joseph P. Smith, Santa Ana's representative on the joint outfall board, asked each member of the council and the city engineer and city attorney to attend the meeting.

Orange wants to withdraw from the joint outfall sewer district in order to build its own plant just north of Santa Ana, through which it would dispose of its sewage. Santa Ana already has decided that such a withdrawal would not conform to the law. Local civic groups oppose the proposed new sewage plant on the grounds that the health and general welfare of Santa Ana would be imperiled through building of a sewage disposal plant so close to the rich residential section of the city.

Newsman to Meet

Daily newspapermen of the county will meet with peace officers Wednesday night to hear Congressman John F. Dockweiler of Los Angeles.

Dockweiler will speak at a session of the Orange County Peace Officers association in Sam's cafe, Seal Beach, and members of the Orange County Press club will meet jointly with the officers.

ADULT SCHOOL WILL EXPAND

Tentative plans to add two new feature courses to the Santa Ana adult school program were approved by the board of education last night when a request was presented by Mrs. Golden Weston, night school director.

One of the courses—business management—will be presented as the equivalent of a university extension course by a U. S. C. business administration instructor. If arrangements can be completed with a representative group of businessmen. Classes would be held once a week for 10 weeks, with business men being asked to underwrite the program in case attendance falls below a minimum.

The other new course is in flower arrangement and it will consist of two lectures by Albert Stockdale, Pasadena artist, on Oct. 28 and Dec. 16.

SPEEDERS FINED

Three speeding fines and one for driving with no license were levied in a quiet session of Judge J. G. Mitchell's police court yesterday. Those fined: William B. Collins, Santa Ana, $6; Henry Oshiro, Puente, $8; Max S. Hernandez, Anaheim, $8, and Virginia Andong, Santa Ana (no license), $5.

AUDIT APPROVED

Completion of the annual audit of Santa Ana school finances was reported by Ellis C. Diehl, Santa Ana accountant, at last night's school board meeting. His bill for $140 was approved.

BOARD READY TO ASSIST
JOB SCHOOLCourses Planned in Building Trades

An extensive training program for apprentices in the construction industries was believed nearly ready for launching last night with the assurance the board of education is prepared to offer its full night school facilities as soon as the program is fully outlined.

The board authorized Superintendent Frank A. Henderson and Mrs. Golden Weston, adult school director, to meet with a coordinating committee representing the skilled crafts and employers in the building trades to work out details.

The school trustees balked, however, at the suggestion that they temporarily finance the appointment of a full-time coordinator, claiming that the school facilities are adequate to handle the apprentice program as outlined.

"We're prepared to do it through our adult education program," Henderson declared, "and I can't see where we have any need for a coordinator."

Mrs. Weston told the trustees the night school is financially equipped to add five or six classes in craft training at any time.

PRESENTED BY MEANS
The plan was presented to the board by Thermon Means, Santa Ana contractor, who said the program at present would call for training of apprentices in only five or six construction crafts, with the possibility that other crafts would be added later.

Money is available from the federal and state governments for the training program, the only restriction being that students must take the work as apprentices for a trade and not as a hobby.

EXPERIENCED WORKERS
No apprentice training is being offered by the night school program at present, Mrs. Weston said, but it could be added at any time.

Experienced workers in each of the trades probably would be employed to give technical instruction, Means explained.

The contractor was accompanied by G. W. Bassett, manager of the Builders exchange, which is sponsoring the proposed training program, and Everett Park, architect.

ORANGES MAKE FAST GROWTH

Valencia oranges got bigger faster in the past month than at any time since 1933.

A growth rate of 220 inches for outside fruit and 216 for inside fruit was reported today by the association laboratory, Anaheim.

Fruit sizes now are slightly smaller than last year's, but compare favorably with the 13-year average, the laboratory report said. Average sizes now are 1.93 inches for outside fruit and 1.836 for inside fruit, a growth from 1.710 outside and 1.620 inside during the first part of September.

To Tell How Bug
'Army' Is Raised

How bugs are raised to eat scale and other pests will be explained to members of the Anaheim Farm center tonight following a semi-pot-luck dinner at 6:30 o'clock.

Speaker will be F. E. Flanders, entomologist of the Riverside experiment station, who will discuss biological control of citrus and walnut pests. L. P. Halderman will report on farm bureau activities, W. W. Nordheim will give a membership report, and officers for 1938 will be elected.

L. M. Sharpless, Fullerton Junior college teacher, will sing. The meeting will be in the Anaheim High school cafeteria.

Brother of Judge
Talbot Dies

Funeral services for Joseph Grant Talbot, South Pasadena real estate man and brother of Judge J. F. Talbot and Mrs. E. B. Smith of Santa Ana, will be conducted in Los Angeles tomorrow afternoon with interment in Inglewood Park cemetery.

Mr. Talbot died last Friday. He was 72 years old and had lived in Southern California for 40 years.

BOB SQUIRES
MEMORY IS GIVEN HONORNews Story Brings
Hero Recognition

A Journal feature story today had accomplished its mission. A county ordinance 25 years old finally was observed, and a hero honored after a quarter-century.

Below a large picture of Robert Squires, Orange county deputy sheriff killed in a gun battle with a crazed killer in 1912, today hangs a metal plaque. It reads:

ONE LABEL MISSING
"In memory of Robert Squires, undersheriff of Orange county, California; killed in the performance of his duty Dec. 16, 1912."

For 25 years the picture has hung in the sheriff's office, on the wall lined with photographs of bewhiskered former sheriffs, all labeled except the one.

Today Deputy Squires' picture is titled more carefully than any other in the office. He was killed in a gun fight which saw others killed, many men wounded and the crazed killer finally lie dead at the bottom of a tiny valley after an all-day pitched battle with officers and a posse.

ORDER FULFILLED
Supervisors later passed a special ordinance, directing the sheriff to procure a picture of the hero deputy and hang it with a suitable tablet on the office wall.

Through an oversight the tablet never was procured.

Last summer The Journal published a feature story, calling attention to the lack of a tablet and recalling the battle. Sheriff Logan Jackson immediately went before the present supervisors and got authorization to have the plaque made. Today it is in place.

Columbus Crossed
Ocean the Hard Way

By The AP Feature Service
It took Christopher Columbus 71 nerve-trying days on his first trip across the Atlantic—the one on which he discovered America on Oct. 12, 1492.

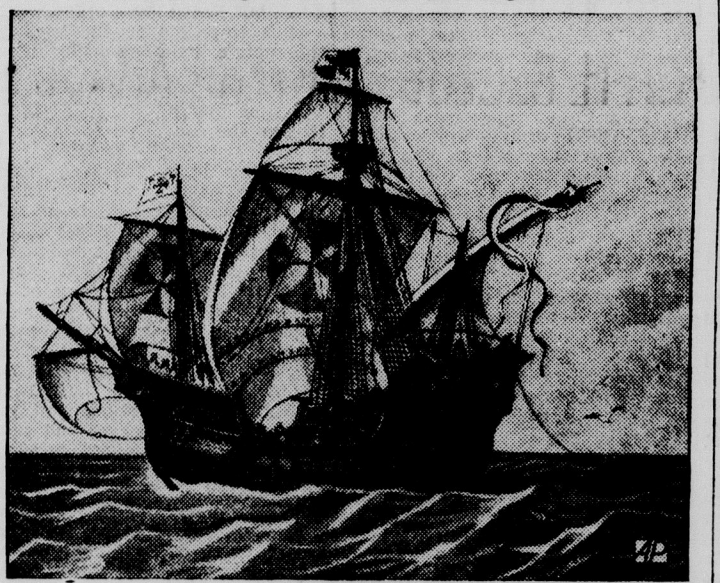

If he could have waited 445 years, until now, he could have made it in 24 hours—just 70 days difference. That's the schedule which survey flights have worked out for giant flying boats to follow when regular transatlantic service starts, perhaps next summer.

COLUMBUS' SUCCESSORS will cross the Atlantic in seaplanes like this one, building for Pan American Airways. Here are some figures: Gross weight, 42½ tons, allowing for 50 passengers and 2½ tons of freight; hull, 109 feet long; wingspread, 152 feet; top speed, 200 miles an hour.

AIR LINE VS. WAVES. Though the flying clippers will start off from Lisbon, which isn't so far from Columbus' hopping-off port of Palos, they will speed straight to their marks, all along the route in contrast to the wavering course the Genoese navigator followed.

CHRISTOPHER'S FLAGSHIP was this plodding craft, the Santa Maria. Two similar ships conveyed this 15th century windjammer, which had these approximate specifications: Weight, 120 tons; length, 86.5 feet; beam, 26.2 feet; speed, 10 miles an hour.

The burglary was discovered by a neighbor yesterday and the Schencks, who have been staying at Emerald bay, were notified. No estimate on the total value of the stolen articles was available until they completed a check late today.

Mrs. F. C. Elliott, 2110 North Ross street, notified police yesterday that the house appeared to have been forcibly entered. Police said the burglar apparently had been wearing gloves.

PROPOSAL BY LAYTON IS
TURNED DOWNThree Members
Vote Against Project

Voters of Santa Ana will go to the polls Nov. 16 to vote civil service for policemen and firemen, but they will not vote of a proposal for purchase of a new central park.

This was decided by the city council last night after considerable time was spent in argument. Councilman Ernest H. Layton proposed that the city place a proposition to vote on purchase of 7.5 acres adjoining the Municipal bowl on the ballot, but it was voted down.

ROLL CALL VOTE

Mayor Fred C. Rowland, on a roll call vote, supported Layton's proposal, but then explained reasons why he was against the proposition as presented. The other three members of the council voted "no" on the proposal.

Layton suggested that the people should decide whether the city council should by ordinance acquire the J. W. Sackman property, on the west side of the bowl, at a price not to exceed $15,000. He offered a resolution to that effect, moving its adoption. Councilman Plummer L. Bruns seconded the motion, but explained that he did so only to bring the question on the floor.

NO PRICE SET

Councilman William Penn said there never has been a price set on the property, and that the council should have a concrete proposal to make before submitting it to the people. Councilman Joseph P. Smith said there was no reason for the resolution, and that its terms were vague and confusing. He offered a substitute motion that the consideration of the resolution be postponed indefinitely. There was no second.

Layton said his purpose in asking for submission of the proposal was to get the sentiment of the people in regard to purchase of a central site for a park, and that the Sackman property was the last available site.

'NOT FOR SALE'

Smith charged that the Sackman property is not even available for parks, and that the city auditor had reported that Sackman told him the property was not even for sale as a park site.

Although he voted "yes," Mayor Rowland said he is not thoroughly convinced at this time that the city is financially able to go into the park business. He added that members of the police and fire departments also feel that submission of a second proposition on the Nov. 16 ballot would hurt the proposal for civil service for the two departments.

World Events Detailed By Speaker

Mrs. Valley Makes Initial Bow to Ebell Club

Necessarily giving a rather broad version of the current situation in international politics because of the many and varied developments that have occurred in world affairs since her last appearance in the spring, Mrs. Jack Valley opened her 11th annual program of lectures before members of the Ebell club of the Santa Ana valley yesterday.

She stressed, with reference to international policy, two tenets which she asserts are unassailable. First, peace is indivisible, and cannot be attained or held on to by any one nation while others are at warfare. Second, it is utterly impossible to adopt a policy of isolation, for because of the very nature of nationalities and commerce, every person is a neighbor to the whole world.

Of major consideration in her concise summary was the Orient, and the part the present conflict there plays in determining the attitude of the United States.

"Confusion," she said, "is the keynote of today. For instance, let me cite our recent congressional session, where on one hand huge army and navy appropriations were voted, and on the other, an act of neutrality was invoked."

With her customary deftness she interwove her political discussion with comments on summer non-fiction publications, the first five of which bore upon the Chinese and Japanese nationalities, all along different lines.

A note of warning was sounded as she touched upon the chaotic conditions prevalent throughout all Europe, when she hinted strongly at the advisability of storing food-stuffs.

"While hoarding food in wartime is treason," she quoted, "hoarding food in peace time is a civic virtue. We would be wise to follow the principles of England and certain other countries, where every housewife is being exhorted to lay aside enough staples for a year's supply."

Humor was injected into her brilliant talk when, in reference to international relations, she referred to a suggestion made by George Chamberlin to his son, when he said, "My son, watch out principally for but two things in life—your frock coat and your enemies. One's frock coat is constantly creasing, and one's enemies are constantly increasing. Both need smoothing down occasionally."

Mrs. Valley's fiction recommendations were enthusiastic on "The Seven Who Fled" (Frederic Prokosh), "Katrina" (Sally Salminen), "Oleander River" (G. B. Stern) and "Brynild" (H. G. Wells).

Additional delight was given her audience, when she included as an afterthought on the program sections from Don Blanding's newly published "The Rest of the Road."

Mrs. W. S. Thomson introduced Mrs. Valley at the close of a business session which was principally devoted to the naming of Ebell's delegates to the district convocation at Long Beach, Calif., and the introduction of new members.

Named as new members were Mrs. C. B. Steele, Mrs. A. J. McFadden, Mrs. Clarence Jordan, Mrs. Milton McMurray, Mrs. Robert Jeffery, Mrs. Harvey Parker, Mrs. R. H. Winckler, and Mrs. Edward Hall.

Delegates to the convocation are the Mesdames W. I. Ferrey, R. G. Tuthill, A. H. Hatch, Susan Rutherford, E. B. Sprague, Sam Nau, W. B. Hellis, Roy Shafer, Emmett Raitt, E. V. Davis, F. W. Slabaugh, A. M. Gardner, E. K. Kirby, R. C. Korff, E. L. Morrison, J. E. Paul, Vinnie Conner and Paul Bailey.

Alternates named were the Mesdames S. A. Jones, John Ball, J. W. McCormack, Arthur May, Ray Adkinson, F. E. Farnsworth, W. D. Ranney, A. H. Worswick, Oliver Halsell, Helen Hill, Dexter Ball, G. R. Nielsen, Charles Druiett, B. H. Sharpless, L. L. Beaman, Edna Beachander, C. P. Boyer, and N. A. Beach.

Your Baby Book

By EDNA WILSON

Well, Tuesday is here again, bringing with it another new chapter in the Baby Book. This time we find there's one activity surpassing all others in popularity. You guessed it—birthday parties! It seems that every other infant is having a party this month, and even though the others aren't, we meet them through a celebration of somebody else.

First and foremost in the party business was the big affair that Mrs. Clayton Cannon gave in her Tustin home for Master James E. Cannon, whose birthday cake was topped by a single tall candle. His grandmother was also a hostess at the party. Jimmy's small guests and their mothers brought a lot of gay little toys and some mighty useful gifts, too, to give to the little birthday celebrant.

Blond little Jimmy appeared almost like an angel in the pink and blue setting that his mother had arranged. But he soon showed that he was a little more active than that, because he demonstrated his prowess on the harmonica. Just to show how talented he is, Jimmy went right on and showed how he can dance in time with his own music. And only a year old, too! Jimmy has blue-grey eyes and talks and walks as awfully lot for a youngster his age.

One of Jimmy's most charming little guests was Patty, the attractive year-and-a-half-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil S. Sudaby, but that's pretty formal for such a little mite—especially as short and chubby as she is. Patty has blonde hair with a reddish cast to it, and deep blue eyes. She talks a lot, and we discovered one of her favorite tricks while talking to her mother over the telephone. You see, she loves to mimic people, and she always yammers at a great rate while anyone is using the telephone.

The Suddabs stayed at Laguna during the summer, and Patty's mother was kept busy all the time, keeping her from swinging right into the waves—she's crazy about the water. "My, my" is Patty's favorite expression, and she says it rather often. Although she said

"Mamma" about a month before she got around to saying "Daddy," she and her Dad are great pals. Another thing Miss Patricia Ann is fond of doing is turning on the radio, the louder the better. Then she stands beside it and dances around.

Patty is becoming very interested in dolls just about now. One little dollie is her favorite because she can undress it. She also likes stuffed animals and little toys, but her pride and joy are two battered old coffee pots that she lugs around from room to room, filling them with blocks and emptying them again. She may be an only child, but Patty loves other kiddies—with emphasis on the boys. If she spots a little boy a block down the street, according to her mother, she lets out a shriek, "Boy," and runs toward the young lad as fast as she can.

Another little guest at Jimmy Cannon's party was Bob Burke, who claims distant relationship to the famous author Robert Louis Stevenson, and is consequently named Robert Stevenson Burke. He's the 21-month-old son of the Marshall Burkes, and is directly named for his maternal grandfather, and his maternal grandmother's maiden name. That may be rather mixed up, but there's nothing mixed up about Bob. He's pretty big for his age, and got a pretty good head start—weighing in at ten and a half pounds when he appeared on the scene. He was about 23 inches long at the time, and has been growing inch for pound ever since. Bob has dark brown eyes, brown curly hair, long eyelashes, and a deep dimple in each cheek.

One of Janice's prize possessions is a miniature gold cross, no more than the go with her Mama. It is engraved with her name and was presented to her by her godmother, Mrs. Flora Shoemaker of Orange. The cool weather doesn't bother her about the jewelry. Joy Jesko at all, for she's learning to swim at the ripe old age of one and a half years. This lassie who loves the sandy beach so well is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jesko of Balboa.

You've already met young Bobbie Smith, christened Robert Sheldon by his parents, the R. Carson Smiths, but we've a birthday party of his to tell you about. He was five years old on Saturday so a jolly little party was given to celebrate it. Bobbie's guests included Jackie and Alice Harvey, Norman Kenneth Anderson, Marjory Lou Braasch, and Carol Carothers. His eight-year-old sister, Peggy, supervised the afternoon and directed the games. There were Halloween decorations all over the house, and a grinning jack-o-lantern centered the refreshment table. Marjory Lou and Carol won prizes, but there were favors of snapers and caps and nut cups and model airplanes and noisemakers for all.

Center of attraction during the afternoon for both the youngsters and Mrs. Carothers and Mrs. Harvey was six-month-old Grace Allen Smith, sister of the honor guest. She was seated on a large blanket in the midst of all the festivities, and made desperate attempts to get at the toys. She had her eye on a particularly large airplane, but she could never quite reach it, no matter how far she crawled.

And the last party on the list is the one for Jennie Lou Lewis, fifth birthday celebrated last Friday. It was a pretty little affair, and gay little decorations were used at the table, where the guests were chiefly interested in dressed-up lollipop ladies. Of course birthday cake and ice cream ended the celebration, and since that's a good way to finish anything, I'll quit right here.

Jaysee Clubs Plan Rush Parties

Since last night's meeting would be the last before the start of the fall rushing season, members of the women's service clubs on the Santa Ana Junior college campus made full use of their time to make last minute plans for their rush parties which are scheduled for this week.

Spinners met at the home of Miss Virginia Fritchard, 2118 Greenleaf, in their regular session and devoted the time to a discussion of rushing plans. Miss LaVonne Franson presided.

Committees appointed to arrange the Spinner party include Miss Gloria Kirchner, Miss Mary Henderson, and Miss Virginia Wilson, food; Miss Virginia Scott, Miss Maryann Newcomer, and Miss Marian Baxter, invitations; Miss Barbara Knuth, transportation; Miss Catherine Eklund, Miss Maryann Newcomer, Miss Delpha Wolcott, Miss Marjorie Kenyon, and Miss Virginia Sheppard, games; Miss Elaine McReynolds, Miss Catherine Eklund, Miss Virginia Wilson, and Miss Mary Henderson, decorations.

Miss Eleanor Brady was hostess to fellow members of Las Gitanas in her Garden Grove home, making final plans for the rush tea next Saturday and tentative plans for acceptance party. Miss Betty West conducted the business session and appointed Miss Betty Bradley in charge of the rush party.

Meeting in the art bungalow of their advisor, Miss Lucinda Griffith, Moavs planned their party under the direction of Evelyn Richards, president. The rush affair will be in the home of Miss Richards, 816 French street, tomorrow night. Miss D. D. Baker and Miss Jean McKamy are arranging decorations, and Miss Anne Pellegrin, Miss Ethel Manning, and Miss Joe Keeler are in charge of refreshments.

Las Meninas met in the home of Miss Josephine Butler, 2428 Riverside drive, to make their plans for rushing, and Miss Billie Johnson, president of the group, appointed Miss Butler to head the decorating committee, Miss Roberta Nichols in charge of favors, Miss Jean McBurney to send invitations.

Members of Las Meninas who were present included Miss Johnson, Miss Mary Holtz, Miss Dorothy Newman, Miss June McFarland, Miss Isa Grace Young, Miss Grace Adams, Miss Helen Lowe, Miss Persis Davis, Miss Ileen Gibbs, Miss Roberta Nichols, Miss Aileen Miller, Miss Jean McBurney, Miss Yelma Kuehl, Miss Josephine Butler, with the two advisors, Miss Genevieve Humiston and Miss Dorothy Decker.

LAS VEGAS WEDDING IS TOLD

Formal announcement was made today by Mrs. Fannie Williams, 206 South Birch street, of the marriage Oct. 2 of her daughter, Mabel Elizabeth Lewis, to John Jerome Allender, son of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Allender, 2021 Bush street.

The ceremony was performed at the Methodist church of Las Vegas, Nev. Attendants were the bride's young daughter, Fay Rene Lewis, and Wilbur Powers of Los Angeles.

Weddings are banned in All Saints church, Gurnard, Isle of Wight.

Teeth coming in now. She's always on the go with her Mama. One day, about two weeks ago, she got much too exuberant and kicked over a dish of jello upside down onto a clean carpet. But she just chuckled.

One of Janice's prize possessions is a miniature gold cross, no more than the go with her Mama. It is engraved with her name and was presented to her by her godmother, Mrs. Flora Shoemaker of Orange.

The cool weather doesn't bother her about the jewelry. Joy Jesko at all, for she's learning to swim at the ripe old age of one and a half years. This lassie who loves the sandy beach so well is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jesko of Balboa.

You've already met young Bobbie Smith, christened Robert Sheldon by his parents, the R. Carson Smiths, but we've a birthday party of his to tell you about. He was five years old on Saturday so a jolly little party was given to celebrate it. Bobbie's guests included Jackie and Alice Harvey, Norman Kenneth Anderson, Marjory Lou Braasch, and Carol Carothers. His eight-year-old sister, Peggy, supervised the afternoon and directed the games. There were Halloween decorations all over the house, and a grinning jack-o-lantern centered the refreshment table. Marjory Lou and Carol won prizes, but there were favors of snapers and caps and nut cups and model airplanes and noisemakers for all.

Center of attraction during the afternoon for both the youngsters and Mrs. Carothers and Mrs. Harvey was six-month-old Grace Allen Smith, sister of the honor guest. She was seated on a large blanket in the midst of all the festivities, and made desperate attempts to get at the toys. She had her eye on a particularly large airplane, but she could never quite reach it, no matter how far she crawled.

And the last party on the list is the one for Jennie Lou Lewis, fifth birthday celebrated last Friday. It was a pretty little affair, and gay little decorations were used at the table, where the guests were chiefly interested in dressed-up lollipop ladies. Of course birthday cake and ice cream ended the celebration, and since that's a good way to finish anything, I'll quit right here.

But I'll be back party soon—next Tuesday!

Sheppards To Return To Capital

The visit of Congressman and Mrs. Harry Sheppard to the 19th congressional district which the former represents in Washington, D. C., draws to a close tomorrow when they return to the capital after having as headquarters during the past three weeks the Santa Ana hotel.

Although official duties have largely occupied their time, there have been several delightful affairs complimenting them in a more intimate way, and last night Postmaster and Mrs. Frank Harwood extended to the Sheppards the courtesy of their home, in order that they might receive informally before their departure.

The affair, an inspiration of the same day, proved to be extremely enjoyable because of its casual intimacy. The several dozen guests participated in a buffet supper that Mrs. Harwood had arranged with the aid of Mrs. M. E. Geeting.

The congressman's wife has found a host of friends in this, her first visit to the district constituents, for her youthful and charming manner have made her most popular. One of the largest affairs in her honor was the lovely tea sponsored at the Santa Ana Ebell club by Democratic women of the county, who gathered there to meet her.

Yesterday noon Mrs. Sheppard was hostess to an intimate little group at luncheon at Daniger's. Her guests included Mrs. Harwood, Mrs. M. E. Geeting, Mrs. Carl S. Kinney, Mrs. Aldric Worswick, and Mrs. Robert Guild.

COED HONORED AT INFORMAL PARTY

Miss Natalie Neff was hostess Saturday evening to a group of close friends when she entertained at a charming informal party at her home, 1801 Bush street, in honor of Miss Betty Heil, who was home for the week-end from Pomona college.

This was the first meeting of the friends since the honor guest had returned from her trip to the Orient, so much of the evening was spent in hearing of her experiences in China and Japan. Cards were played for a time, then the tables were spread with dainty linens and a light refreshment course was served.

Included in the intimate group were Mrs. Marian Brownridge, Miss Suzanne Alexander, Miss Mary Nau, Miss Mary Tuthill, Miss Martha Tuthill and Mrs. William Comito.

QUILL PEN MEETS AT FRITCHER HOME

Mrs. William Fritchard was hostess last night to fellow members of the Quill Pen club. The evening was largely social, since but two manuscripts were brought for reading, both untitled short stories, one by Mrs. J. U. Vau, and the other by Mrs. Frank Was.

A refreshment course following the harvest theme was served later on, and Mrs. Frank Willsey invited the group to meet with her in a fortnight.

Present were Mrs. Frank Willsey, Mrs. Emmett Elliott, Mrs. Marshall Harnois, Mrs. Carlton Smith, Mrs. Lucy Marshall, Mrs. J. U. Vau, Mrs. Maynard Thompson, Mrs. Frank Was, Mrs. Roy Winchester, Mrs. Fritchard, and two special guests, Mrs. George Munro and Mrs. M. Cormack, visiting from Greeley, Col.

I. T. U. TONIGHT
Auxiliary to the International Typographical Union of Santa Ana will meet tonight for a business session at the home of Mrs. E. W. Ellis, 725 Cypress street.

Wife Should Call Attention Herself to Fine Legs, Older Wife Advises

Many fine letters of comment and advice have been sent to Mrs. W. who was on the verge of getting a divorce because her husband embarrasses her by constantly staring at the passing feminine leg parade. The morning mail yields another which we feel Mrs. W. may well add to the collection. It is from an older wife:

Dear Miss Stoddard: May I speak frankly to the wife, Mrs. W., who feels so embarrassed about what she terms her husband's obsession for fine leg art? Really I had to laugh because at 59 years of age I have taken unto myself the same appreciation of perfection in human anatomy.

Now I am a woman and always have admired figures of my sex where admiration was due, but after the boyish figure came, it left my interest in that direction rather dull and suddenly I found I was giving undue attention to fine shaped ankles and a perfect walk of girls and women.

My mind is anything but in the gutter and I detest shady stories or any vulgarity whatever, but I do think that perfect legs and ankles are something to be mighty proud of and one has every right to feel a certain pride in owning a pair. Shoes and hose are things of beauty these days, as Miss Stoddard said, and if I had a pair of fine ankles instead of the little spindles of crookedness that I possess, I would parade before the mirror every time I was getting ready to go out just to see which way I should stand, walk and sit to best show the perfection God had graced me with.

My dear Mrs. W., you say your husband is old-fashioned and dignified. Do not be foolish. He is not evil-minded, but just openly and innocently enjoying the perfection of form without really meaning harm, and if he never does anything more degrading than looking at a pair of fine ankles, just say nothing, but beat him to it by calling his attention to fine ankles of older women whenever you see a pair. I am not kidding. I really mean that you will be relieved of the desire to kick up a fuss, if you take notice of such things yourself.

Really it is a secret jealousy if you if you let it bother you, and believe me, life holds so many more problems during the years you have come to you, that this little thing will look tame in comparison when you have passed the 50 mark. Here is hoping that all of the splendid advice you have received through this column will help you to keep your home intact and form a mountain between it and the divorce court. Sincerely,
AN OLDER WIFE.

FORMER SANTA ANAN FETED AT SHOWER

Mrs. Leonard Hawkins of Long Beach, who was formerly the popular Miss Katherine Vanderhorst of Santa Ana, was complimented Saturday evening at a delightful layette shower given by Mrs. Grant Sommerville at her home, 1231 South Main street.

Larry Cruzen was co-hostess. Pink and blue was the dainty color theme followed throughout the appointments, with carnations and blue larkspur in the floral decorations. The hostesses had made candlesticks from pink crepe paper and in each holder a blue taper was standing.

Three tables of court whist were in play during the evening, with Miss Ann Vanderhorst and Mrs. Karl Richardson taking the prizes. Refreshments were served at the individual tables.

Guests for the party were Mrs. Walter Shaw, Mrs. Larry Cruzen, Mrs. Howard Brown, Mrs. Jerry Robinson, Miss Ann Vanderhorst, Miss Emma Vanderhorst, Mrs. Dean Gill, Mrs. Pat Carroll, Mrs. Karl Richardson, Miss Leola Schroeder, Miss Harriet Adden, and the honor guest, Mrs. Leonard Hawkins.

Two Affairs Compliment Visitors

In honor of a group of friends and relatives visiting here from Visalia, Mrs. Harriet Rutherford Bonnell and Miss Myrtle Rutherford entertained at their home, 519 East First street, Sunday afternoon for a very informal affair.

Guests of honor for the party were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kender and daughter, Harriet Susan and Miss Louise La Mont of Visalia. A delicious barbecue steak dinner was served in the garden, and was followed by various sports. Howard Brown contributed to the entertainment, offering several vocal and instrumental selections.

Guests of Mrs. Bonnell and Miss Rutherford were Mrs. Susan Rutherford and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Adams of Balboa, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Hale, Betty and Sharon Hale of Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Clary of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Fortner, Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Senwick and daughter, Gloria, Mr. and Mrs. John Spikes, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butler and daughter, Betty, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Art Reas, all of Redondo Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Melton and son, Jim of Costa Mesa, Don Miller of Redlands, Howard Brown and E. F. Roberts of Santa Ana, Mr. and Mrs. Kornder, Harriet Susan Kornder and Miss La Mont.

Another party honoring the same group was that given by Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Melton of Costa Mesa in their home last evening. Those seated at the lovely gladiolus-decorated table for dinner were Mrs. Susan Rutherford, Miss Myrtle Rutherford, Mrs. Harriet Bonnell, Mrs. H. E. Hose, Howard Brown, Mrs. E. F. Roberts and the visitors.

JUVENILES PLAN FUTURE EVENTS

In their first business session since installation, the Royal Neighbors Juveniles met Saturday afternoon in the Knights of Columbus hall with Irene Pope, junior orator, presiding. Miss Margie Chapman, assistant leader, directed the first practice of the floor work.

Members decided to hold business meetings once a month at the home of Mrs. Ruth Lühmann, 1420 West Seventh street. The next meeting will be a party at the home of Miss Chapman, 612 North Olive street, on Saturday, Oct. 23. The Juveniles will sponsor a "grab bag" booth at the carnival and bazaar to be held in the K. of C. hall by the Golden State camp, R. N. A., on Oct. 27. The afternoon closed with refreshments served by Miss Chapman and Mrs. Viola Adams, acting leader.

SORORITY HAS GET-TOGETHER

A particularly enjoyable meeting was held last night by Delta Theta Chi members with all five of their new pledges in attendance. These included the Misses Mary Bowyer, Adeline Loptien, Margie Livesey, Daisy Carr and Vivian Chandler.

Miss Betty Vorce, president, officiated at a business session, at which final preparations for Santa Ana chapter's part in the state convention, to be held Oct. 23-24 at the Hollywood Roosevelt hotel, were made.

Present at the affair, which was held in the rumpus room of the Lotus Louden home at Anaheim, were the pledges and the Misses Irene Ross, Alice Whitten, Marjorie Walton, Leone Baxter, Midge Louden, Lenore McFarmer, Jeanette Leikhus and Betty Vorce.

Children under 5 formed 15.4 per cent of the nation's population in 1860, but only 9.3 per cent in 1930.

Add Radiant Beauty to Your Bedroom

PATTERN 5940

Can't you see this in color—the flowers in shades of rose or peach setting off the bluebirds—these alone are 10-to-the-inch crosses—the rest is all 5-to-the-inch and isn't that quick embroidery? Smarten your bedroom for the long winter months with this gay stitchery—it will delight you each time you see it! Matching motifs do for a bolster or scarf. In pattern 5940 you will find a transfer pattern of a motif 15½x20 inches and a motif of 6¼x14¼ inches; a color chart; material requirements; illustrations of all stitches used.

To obtain these patterns send 10 cents each (20 cents for both) in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Santa Ana Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth Street, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

House Famine and Building Costs

With rentable houses and apartments so scarce in Santa Ana, it's a wonder that there is not more building going on to meet the demand for living quarters.

The house famine is so acute, as a matter of fact, that many men and women working here are forced to go to neighboring communities to find homes.

One reason for the comparatively small volume of building probably is the prevailing belief on the part of almost everyone that construction costs are too high.

We wonder if this opinion is justified in the light of building expenses during the busy years of 1921-24 and 1928-30. In those years, if we recall correctly, it cost a lot more to build a house than it does today—yet there was much more construction going on, and the population was not as large as it is now.

There is a general tendency, apparently, to think that labor costs have gone out of sight. This has been brought about very likely by the publication of union scales and the assumption that these scales are payable everywhere. Yet such is not the case.

On the scales, common labor is listed at 75 cents an hour. But, according to our talks with contractors, not many are actually getting it. The common labor hourly pay is actually closer to 60 cents.

The same differential is true, in greater or less degree, in other trades.

Materials, too, are viewed as being excessively high in costs. They are high, compared to a few years ago when the country was floundering in the worst depression it had ever known.

But in the case of lumber, for instance, today's prices are still below the average for the past 20 years.

Those people who have longed for a home of their own, or who wish to invest in rental property, should not be frightened off by the bogeyman of high construction costs.

Instead, they should investigate thoroughly and compare today's figures with those of long-time averages. The findings might be a pleasant surprise.

Japan speaks of the "have" and "have not" nations. She also believes that "them as has, gets."

Look Out, Driveway Parkers

How many Santa Ana residents have had that very unpleasant experience of discovering a car parked in front of their driveway when they were coming home or backing out of their garage?

Plenty, we'll wager. No doubt much hair has been torn, teeth gnashed and uncomplimentary remarks muttered or shouted upon contact with such a situation.

Motorists who park in front of other people's driveways and block the means of getting a car into or out of the premises violate a law which has been on the statute books for some time.

But it remained for the legislature to provide the law with some sharp "teeth."

This change, now in effect, gives full legal authority to police officers to remove cars found parked in front of driveways (except, of course, cars belonging to occupants of the premises) to the nearest garage or other place of safety.

And, in addition, charges for this towing and storing cars blocking the entrance to driveways will be imposed upon the owner of the illegally parked car.

Before enactment of the new provision, local officers and police throughout the state were specifically prohibited from having such cars removed, and the same restraint was applied to any other person. Residents who found entrance or exit barred by a car in front of a driveway had no means of relief and had to wait until the offender himself came and removed the car.

Generally there were harsh words—in some cases hasty apologies and explanations, but the fact remained the victim could do nothing, despite the law "agin it."

With the new ruling in effect, motorists should realize that if they park in front of a driveway they way return to find that the car has been taken away and that they face not only citation and probable punishment for the offense, but also the costs of towing and storage.

We think the new "teeth" can do a lot of good "biting."

What this country doesn't need is a new crop of Gold Star Mothers.

An Idea from Europe

The province of Alberta, Canada, which not long since elected a premier on the promise that he would pay every inhabitant so much per month from the coffers of the state, is in the limelight again with a proposal by one of its legislators to curb the press as it is curbed in the lands of the dictators.

A bill designed "to ensure publication of accurate news and information" is now before the Alberta legislature. The measure would empower the chairman of the provincial social credit board to force newspapers to publish official statements on:

1. The objects of any policies of the government.
2. The means being taken or intended to be taken by the government to attain such objects.
3. Circumstances which hinder or make difficult the achievement of any such objects.

Newspapers held to have violated the act might be ordered to suspend publication "until further notice."

And publication of any information from any person or any source might be prohibited.

The misguided and poorly-informed gentlemen who are thus seeking to bring the press of their province under their complete domination have overlooked the vital matter of geography. They are in the wrong country. Worse, from their point of view, they are in a democracy.

There is little likelihood that the Albertans, being free-born, will put up with any such attempted imitation of the dictatorships of Europe.

The social credit plan was merely a febrile plot against the intelligence of the electorate; the new proposal is an active plot against their liberties.

Squalor
In Public
Buildings

By
Westbrook
Pegler

Anyone having occasional business in public buildings in this country is certain to be impressed by the squalor and frowzy state of these temples of government which are pretty much alike everywhere outside Washington. In the national capital, it must be admitted, they do things much better and even such gruesome old heaps as the treasury and the state department are kept in reasonably tidy condition. But our city halls and county courthouses and the public office buildings in our state capitals as well as post offices and federal courthouses are of a depressing sameness as to dirt, dust, tobacco stains and smell. Just as jails, poorhouses and asylums have a distinctive odor, as of misery and disinfectant, those others possess an atmosphere more readily sensed by the spirit than the nose which conveys the thought of contempt for government and for the people under it.

The Chicago city hall and county buildings, and the New York municipal building are alike in this respect, and the new palace of Justice Hard by the Tombs, though dedicated it seems but yesterday, already has acquired its layer of crime inside and out. It seems that holders of public office and those having regular business in such structures have somewhat the same feeling about them that little boys have about new football pants. Little boys believe that new football pants should be smeared with mud and grass stains without delay, and a new public building remains new no longer than it takes the occupants and regular frequenters to foul it with the traditional marks of untidiness. That is almost no time at all.

THEY DETERIORATE

A building owned by private capital, though handling much greater traffic may be kept in good order for many years, and with no greater expenditure, which is much smaller staff. But turn over a courthouse or city hall to a lot of judges and other politicians, and inside two years it will have deteriorated to the level of all the other buildings of like character. There will be tobacco juice on the tiles and around the feet of the columns, cigar butts flattened and frayed in all the corridors and greasy dust in the elevator cages and on the walls of the shafts.

Doors will be blocked off, makeshift partitions erected and furniture stored in the halls. And over all there will be an air of frowzy squalor, describe but easily perceived and recognized as typical, for it is not to be found in any other buildings. It is the spirit of the public service, the feeling that because the place belongs to the public nobody has any obligations to respect it.

SLIGHT DIFFERENCE

The architecture has changed much and now runs pretty much to the box-car simplicity, which is supposed to combine efficiency with charm. Older ideas always called for a billowy female stripped to the waist, holding a sheaf of wheat in one hand and a sickle in the other and a big muscular guy holding a sledge-hammer and a geared wheel carved out of Indiana limestone by some leading head-stone cutter. But these figures, set above the door, always become pigeon roosts and, with artistic progress, we decided to put the money into retiring rooms for the judges and big bronze for the judges and only doors. But the difference is only superficial, and you may enter a new edifice or an old one wearing a blindfold and detect no difference, although you will be instantly aware that you are in a public building.

This is not to be construed as a complaint, but merely as an observation on one phase of the American scene which the artists failed to capture when they were dabbling for Mr. Ickes not so long ago. But it won't be necessary for him to send anyone back to catch it because, though the scene and the times may change, the squalor is something permanent. It will always be here as long as we have public buildings for it is 100 per cent American.

ALIBI

A lady complained to the local postmaster of damage to a box of eggs sent by parcel post, and gave more than a broad hint that the postman was not so careful as she should have been. The following was his written explanation: "I desire to emphatically repudiate the complainant's suggestion of carelessness on my part, for it was only a few minutes after leaving the office I discovered that the juice was protruding from the parcel."—Post-office Magazine, London.

The world never needed craftsmen more than it needs them now.—William S. Knudsen, General Motors Corp., president.

EVERYDAY MOVIES

Twenty-Five Years Ago

OCT. 12, 1912

Four hundred forty California Masons took possession of Santa Ana at noon today when they arrived from Los Angeles, where the grand lodge is convening, for the sight-seeing trip which included every principal point of interest in Orange county. George Balderston was chairman of the reception committee.

The Tustin Lemon Growers association has issued checks to the growers for the August pool—largest ever paid by the association. It totaled about $18,000.

Quite a radical change has been made in the appearance of Sixth street between Main and Bush, by the street department in the way of clearing out a thrifty crop of weeds and removing surplus dirt which had filled the gutters.

LONDON.—Turkish troops on the Montenegrin frontier are offering stubborn resistance to the Montenegrin advance on Scutari. Fighting has been severe and both armies have lost heavily.

Journalaffs

By ART SHANNON
Howdy folks! Now is the time to do your Christmas shopping! No hurry, no rush! Between purchases you can play games of tic-tac-toe with the shopgirls, or enjoy a leisurely game of beanbag with the floorwalker.

The height of laziness is to refrain from calling your floor in an elevator in the hopes that somebody else will.

WHAT THIS WORLD NEEDS

A device by which people who telephone you and giggle, "Guess who this is?" will be automatically electrocuted when you slam down the receiver.

And what has become of the absent-minded traveling salesman who wired home for reservations?

Government agents warn citizens to beware of counterfeit $10 bills. Most of us remain calm, through grateful for the compliment.

A sailor is said to have a girl in every port. But that's nothing. An aviator has a girl in every airport.

Bright Moments

Joseph Chamberlain, the British prime minister, was always known as a pugnacious man. So much was this reputation a part of him that once at a dinner, Mr. Gladstone, another of the old line English statesmen, remarked at the conclusion of a short address: "I can see Mr. Chamberlain looking at me through his glasses, only waiting until I have finished to get up and protest what I have been saying."

TOO FAST ON THE DRAW

"Does your wife have an allowance?" tried it, but it didn't work.
"How was that?"
"She always spent it before I could borrow it back."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

by placing fleets at two strategic bases—Singapore and the Panama canal. Virtually all shipments to Japan—except those from war-torn China—must pass via those two fortified bases. Therefore it was proposed that the British and American fleets cooperate at these two bases.

ROOSEVELT CAUTION

Secretary of State Hull, who was in on these conversations, approved the general idea—provided, of course, that other nations, particularly Great Britain, took equal initiative.

President Roosevelt was a little more skeptical. He felt that the American public was not prepared for such a step.

Naval strategists reported that it would take about three months of blockading Japan to force abandonment of her war against China. But should Japan win the war and establish herself on the Chinese mainland, they said she would become invincible.

The President, who was virtually brought up on naval strategy (at 14 he was found reading Admiral Mahan's most profound of all naval strategists) agreed with this. But still he did not think the American people were ready for anything so drastic.

BRITISH HANDS TIED

Meanwhile the British were being consulted. At first they argued that the United States should do all the policing in the Pacific. They said they could spare no ships from the Mediterranean and Baltic.

Later they considered sending two destroyer squadrons, two heavy cruisers and one or two battleships to Singapore. Just about this time, however, submarine "piracy" broke out in the Mediterranean and all further talk of fleet shifts to Singapore was dropped like a hot potato.

Since then the British have informed the state department they could not move one single ship out of the Mediterranean. Among other things, they point out that six of their 15 battleships are in drydock, leaving only nine in commission.

BAD PSYCHOLOGY

Most of this took place before the war in China really got hot. Since then the Japanese have been bombing Chinese civilians on a wholesale basis, flouting U. S. notes of protest.

Secretary Hull, talking to one of his advisors about American public opinion, said: "You can always count upon the Japanese to do the wrong thing."

He was right. Japanese ineptness has caused a decided change in U. S. public opinion. However, the administration has not been satisfied to leave this entirely to the boneheadedness of the Japanese.

The other day Charles Tausig, chief brain trust of Secretary Hull, paced back and forth behind the White House talking to a young man who rates high in the Youth Congress, a very influential organization among young people.

Tausig wanted the Youth Congress to pass a resolution urging Secretary Hull to station the U. S. fleet at strategic points in the Pacific in order to blockade Japan.

EUROPE'S NEXT MOVE

It is too early yet to know how far President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull will go in taking economic action against Japan. Not even they, themselves, know yet. It depends chiefly on the response they get from Europe.

One thing, however, is certain. Hull and Roosevelt do not favor a sporadic boycott applied by only a few countries.

There is considerable difference between a boycott and a blockade. The latter is enforced by warships. It means stopping merchant vessels on the high seas, can be extremely efficient, but extremely risky. This is what the U. S. Navy proposes.

A boycott, on the other hand, is maintained by each country through its own shippers. This was what the league imposed against Italy. It is never very effective because shippers always find means of circumventing it.

AMBASSADOR RAPPED

The state department is emphatically opposed to a boycott organized by individuals. It was not generally known, but William E. Dodd, U. S. ambassador to Germany, recently was pulled out of a New York mass-meeting called to promote a boycott against Japan.

The state department didn't want one of its ambassadors urging such a boycott. If there is to be a boycott or blockade of Japan, the state department wants it imposed by all nations at once, and not leave the United States out on a limb, incurring Japanese enmity all by itself.

That is why Roosevelt's next move regarding the Far East depends almost entirely on the European come-back to his "quarantine" speech. But you can wait it down as certain that if he gets real cooperation, he is ready to go a long way.

THOSE SINISTER SPOTS

(San Diego Sun)

It's true that spots on the sun and business depressions down here are intimately connected, as Dr. Harlan T. Stetson of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology told the Amateur Astronomers association in New York—well, obviously something will have to be done about sunspots.

It is generally accepted that the black tornadoes which rage across the sun's dazzling disk shoot a constant stream of electrons into space. It is fairly well established that these electrons, whizzing through our atmosphere and striking the earth, interfere with radio and affect the weather.

Now Dr. Stetson has advanced a startling new theory. For 10 years, he said, prices on the New York stock exchange have fallen and risen "in a most uncanny fashion" as sunspots spread and shrank. "Four of the last five major business slumps have followed from two or three years after a period of maximum sunspot activity." And since "one of the biggest groups of solar cyclones on record" is now blotting the sun's surface at the rate of a billion square miles daily, he warned us to prepare for another depression in 1939 or soon thereafter.

Mr. Hoover, who used to blame our depression on "world conditions," seems to have failed by some 93,000,000 miles to take in enough territory. And possibly the New Deal's alphabetical agencies are fighting a hopeless battle against local effects, meanwhile neglecting the distant causes of our woes.

We may have to set up the FSCA—the Federal Sunspot Control administration.

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and notice. There is no definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag.

BIRTH CONTROL

To the Editor: In reply to President Roosevelt's condemnation of aggressor nations, a Japanese spokesman says: "The Japanese people should be permitted to enjoy the freedom of movement and happiness which is rightfully theirs." He did not add, however, "without any consideration whatsoever for the rights of others." I presume he realized we would take that for granted. Any nation who will war on helpless mothers and babies has no better than the lowest cut-throat.

He also deplored the fact that the Japanese are excluded from the United States, since their population has doubled during the past 50 years. He says: "Being crammed into such a limited area, she wants to send her people elsewhere, but all outlets are denied." It is no one's fault but their own. They can't expect other countries to inconvenience themselves to accommodate their over-flow. If they spent a fraction of the time and money on educating their people along the lines of birth-control that they spend on war, they would not have to worry about the over-flow.

It is only countries where the people "breed like rabbits" that have to resort to war. They kill off their neighbors' children and steal their lands, in order to make room for their own off-spring; and that, in their estimation, is justified. The spokesman continued: "The ideals of right as conceived by western peoples is incompatible to that of the Orient." Thank the Lord for that.

GENTLE SARCASTIC

To the Editor: In order to settle the question of the appointment of the Hon. Hugo Black to the supreme bench to the satisfaction of his critics it would seem desirable that an amendment to the constitution prohibiting any Democratic from holding public office should be passed. There were only 27,000,000 million of us who voted the Democratic ticket the last election.

IT'S ODD But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

(A Science Editor)

NEW YORK.—Even a piece of glass recovers from a cut. Like a cut finger, its strength comes back, although its "scar" prevents full recovery.

The explanation is found by Merton W. Jones and Julian M. Blair of the University of Colorado, in the Journal of Applied Physics. They noted that glass marked by a glass cutter became more difficult to cut if allowed to stand for some time.

Tests showed that a glass scored by its cutter recovered 30 per cent of its strength in 16 days—most of this recovery in the first two days.

Polarized light showed the reasons. This light shows strains in glass and blue and red colors. Under the scratch of the glass cutter, the colored patterns of strain shot out into the channel surrounding the scratch. But if the glass were not broken, these colors slowly receded, indicating recovery of strength.

I'll Tell You

By BOB BURNS

You hear a lot of talk about some Hollywood moving picture actors being' concited but I've found the average run of male actor out here is a prett sort of fellow. You have to be a little bit of an actor to be in the world of these actors, but you can't blame some of these actors for being' a little bit concited when they read much about how pretty they are and some of 'em read so much stuff that their press agent has written that they got to believe it themselves. Some of 'em would just spoiled rotten if they didn't have a good level-headed wife at home to keep their feet on the ground.

One of these concited actors was having breakfast with his wife the other morning when the spoke man said, "You know, I had the funniest dream last night—I dreamed I was in a department store where they was sellin' husbands and they had some of the finest lookin' husbands there I ever saw."

And he spoke up and says, "Dig'ja see any of 'em that looked like me?" and she says, "No, I woke up before I got to the remnant counter."

WHIMSIES

McINTYRE

NEW YORK.—George Palmer Putnam, husband of Amelia Earhart, has not as yet mourned the brave flyer as dead. He has glimmers of hope that somewhere on some forlorn dot of an island along the outer fringe of the world she and her navigator, Fred Noonan, may be leading a Robinson Crusoe life.

Of course, such a hope, even to him, becomes fantastical at times, but he clings to it. Putnam, a quiet, self-effacing fellow interested chiefly in rare books, has aged much since his life was cracked up by the long and agonizing suspense of the flying tragedy.

He had undergone several of these torturing interludes on other ocean hops of Miss Earhart and looked forward to the around-the-globe flight, which was fatal, as her last wish was said to have promised him she would make no more of a perilous nature.

They were ideally matched. He was in complete sympathy with her aviation ambitions and had no urge for the spotlight. Furthermore, he was possessed of ample fortune to furnish the necessary funds for her costly experiments.

Among the long-standing column feuds is that between Walter Lippman and Heywood Brown. They were long co-workers on the old Morning World. Brown, with great glee, frequently hurls a journalistic javelin at Lippman, but if it has brought blood it has not shown up in Lippman's column. He ignores the thrusts completely, which is so often disconcerting.

The greyhounds or ocean liner gamblers have had a most profitable season this summer. Their pluckings were enormous—one middle-western industrialist is said to have been taken for $42,000 in a three-day session. Ship attendants can spot the greyhounds on sight. Rarely do they resemble gamblers. And when they are spotted, up go the placards: "Professional Gamblers Aboard." But that rarely does any good. The professionals have a way of jockeying relaxing passengers into asking them to join a friendly game. And, of course, there are always the accomplices. The average card shark is indeed a shark at bridge and poker. And he does not always have to cheat. The majority can make plenty playing fairly. But if luck is against them they have no scruples in indulging the well known tricks.

After the fashion most of us love the rogue, I have a secret liking for the companionship of the ocean gambler in crossings. I have known several around New York and on shipboard. They are the frankest of all who live by their wits and rarely deny to roasting. In fact, they like to romance about it. There was one light-hearted churl known among his guild by the name of a fruit. Say "Apples," which was not quite it. One time, coming up the gangplank at Plymouth, I hailed him from the deck and he passed clipped out of the side of his mouth: "Nix. On this ship I am Col. Jeffers." "My mother-in-law was along and one evening in the coffee room "Col. Jeffers" strolled by, stopped and turned on his charm, telling the dear old lady of his own mother, shaking off a vagrant tear so doing, and of his church activities and his noble faith in mankind. He made such an impression it was weeks before I told her he was a professional rascal.

Another type of flim-flammer interesting me was the old time race track tout. Before the days of the pari-mutuels, in early newspaper days I lived in a sort of rake-hell hotel catering to burlesque, second company musicals and track touts. No ambitious student trying to rise in the world studied so assiduously as these touts pursued racing forms or dope sheets. To have applied themselves as earnestly to a worthy calling could not have resulted in anything but success. They were tops in mispent endeavor.

Yet it occurs I'm lacking in appreciation for touts. While strolling among the 50-cent bookies one day at Latonia, I listened to the glub patter of one of the gentry. And as a result of his enticing ring-a-do played a 20 to 1 shot on the nose. The horse romped in and I waited around for the tout to claim his share, but he never showed up.

They've stolen a dozen of them since the war started over there.—William Griffin, foreman of New York sewers, commenting on the disappearance of sewer manhole covers.

Tippling is the most detectable, contemptible and embarrassing practice in the world.—Victor Despret, Spokane, Wash., hotel man.
